No Longer Flying Over Shanghai International Zone

JAP NAVY ACTIVE Announces Night Bom- bardment Behind Shanghai Lines

Shanghai—(AP)—Chinese bombers flew over a new route today to avoid the International Settlement in before-dawn raids on Japanese positions about Shanghai.

In previous raids the planes had crossed over the settlement and Japanese anti-aircraft shell fragments had sprayed foreign areas. Yesterday United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson made representations against this practice to the Chinese government.

Today the foreign population slept through the Japanese anti-aircraft fire, unaware that shells were bursting over Pootung, along the new Chinese bombing route across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai proper.

Chinese bombs damaged a Japanese mill on the river bank and set fire to six buildings. The Japanese anti-aircraft fire apparently was ineffective.

Build Defenses

One foreign area, the Hungjiao suburb where many wealthy foreigners have their homes, was declared by Chinese authorities to be out of bounds of the International Settlement. Chinese were building defenses in the district, which includes 40 American properties, mostly unoccupied residences.

The Japanese navy announced successful night bombardment of positions behind Chinese Shanghai lines. Planes raided fifteen Chinese artillery positions, the announcement said. It added that at one point on the fire Japanese picked up the bodies of 2,000 Chinese dead.

Semi-official Chinese reports said a Chinese dare-to-die battalion raided a Japanese airfield at Yangping in northern Shansi province and destroyed 24 planes. One hundred Chinese were reported killed.

Deny Chinese Reports

Japanese at Peiping denied Chinese reports of victories in Shansi province but admitted the Chinese have established a 50-mile line of trenches in the mountainous district north of Taiyuan, the provincial capital. Japanese officers said their troops were meeting stubborn resistance.

Special police precautions amounting almost to martial law were put into effect at Peiping to protect General Count Juichi Terauchi, Japanese commander of an inspection tour.

(At Tokyo, Foreign Minister Koki Hirota transmitted to all government offices the text of an invitation to the nine-power conference on the Chinese-Japanese situation to be held at Brussels Oct. 30.)

The cabinet will meet tomorrow but it was considered doubtful that a decision on whether to accept the invitation would be made until later. Foreign office officials have conferred on the nine-power invitation and foreign minister was said to have discussed the situation with the Italian ambassador.)

Dane County Crash Fatal to Two Men

Four Women Injured in Collision Between Automobiles

Madison—(AP)—Two men were killed and four women were injured, two seriously, in a head-on automobile collision on Dane county Trunk Highway PB, two miles south of Paoli, at about 1:30 a. m. today.

The injured were Mrs. Bavery, 24, and her sisters-in-law, Rosemary, 16, Edna, 23, and Florence, 26, all of Basco.

The women were brought to St. Mary's hospital. Attorneys said Rosemary Bavery suffered a fractured leg and severe lacerations; Mrs. Bavery, severe face and minor body lacerations; and Edna and Florence Bavery, minor lacerations.

County traffic officers were unable to determine the cause of the crash. Coroner Edward A. Fischer swore in an inquest jury at Belleville, then adjourned it until the women are able to testify.

Fischer said the Bavery group was returning home from a wedding dance at New Glarus at the time of the accident.

Solved Without Using Dictionary

Few nights ago August Minors, pilot at Bermuda harbor, hit a cigar, threw the empty wrapper on the deck. At once an 18-inch fish, mistaking the wrapper for bait, leaped from the water and landed at Minors' feet. Minors was puzzled but quickly recovered, grabbed the fish and took it home for supper. This is one case where a cigar puzzle left no bitter after-taste. It is hoped Mr. Minors will henceforth get bait, tackle or other sports goods thru The Post-Crescent classified want-ads. This one recovered a watch.

Iowan Accused of Taking $400,000 From Bank Funds

Assistant Cashier Specu- lated on Stock Market For Two Years

Burlington, Iowa—(AP)—Examination of the operations of William C. Kurrie, 52, who police said confessed the embezzlement of $400,000 from the First National Bank of Burlington, today led investigators to the conclusion that for two years he was a "walking bank."

False deposit slips, they said, coupled with the practice of meeting large withdrawals of customers from his own pocket, enabled him to finance his stock market operations for two years unnoticed.

Kurrie was assistant cashier of the bank, and handled certificates of time deposit. The bank temporarily suspended operations yesterday when the shortage was discovered.

Deputy United States Marshal Charles Antles of Des Moines arrived here with a warrant charging Kurrie with embezzlement, but did not immediately serve it.

County officers said they were not ready to release Kurrie, who is under arrest at the city hall.

Directors of the bank, organized four years ago with $100,000 capital, since increased to $200,000, began their investigation when Kurrie appeared at a garage here late Tuesday after an absence of several days.

Kurrie, tall, handsome was a popular figure in Burlington.

He owned a home in the fashionable North hill district overlooking the Mississippi river and had a cabin along the river where he often spent weekends on fishing and hunting trips.

The bank yesterday attached all of his property.

Jack Garr Says He Didn't Discuss Killing With Brothers

Shelbyville, Ky.—(AP)—Denial that he and his brothers had ever discussed killing Brigadier General Henry H. Denhardt was made today by Jack Garr, youngest of three brothers charged with murder of the portly former lieutenant governor on the eve of his second trial for murder of his sister.

"Did you and your brothers come to Shelbyville to kill Henry Denhardt?" Jack was asked.

"No," he replied, and gave the same response when asked if they had discussed shooting their sister's fiancée whose first trial had ended in a hung jury. Jack Garr denied he was armed when Denhardt was killed by his brother.

The court upheld the commonwealth's objection to Jack Garr's reference to Denhardt as "the man who killed my sister."

Roy Garr testified yesterday he shot the 61-year-old former lieutenant governor "to protect my life." Several times he repeated the answer under hammering cross-examination by State Attorney General Hubert Meredith, chief of the prosecution staff.

"I saw Denhardt go for his right hip and I went for my gun and started shooting and shooting fast," Roy said.

Jack, Roy and Dr. E. S. Garr, whose case has been continued, countered Denhardt as the general and Rodes K. Myers, attorney, were returning to a hotel where they had conferred a short while before the opening of the general's second trial the following day for the slaying of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, 40, Denhardt's pretty fiancée.

Widmer Pleads Guilty In 3 Bank Robberies

Cleveland—(AP)—James Widmer, erstwhile fugitive companion of the desperate Bird brothers, pleaded guilty today before Federal Judge Paul Jones to participating in three Cleveland bank robberies.

Widmer faces life imprisonment. His plea removed him from a possible death penalty. One of the charges involved kidnapping during a robbery, but capital punishment may be invoked only if the defendant is convicted by a federal grand jury.

"There's not a chance of beating the rap," observed Widmer after making his plea.

The gunman was returned from Philadelphia where he was captured last Thursday.

2 Injured, 200 Shaken Up in Train Derailment

Blackwell, Mo.—(AP)—The railroad agent and a mail clerk were seriously injured and about 200 passengers shaken up when two baggage cars and a day coach of the Missouri Pacific's Texan were derailed here shortly before 10 a. m. today. The cars remained upright, although leaning at a slight angle, after they left the tracks and rumbled into the Blackwell station. The cause of the accident was not learned immediately.

Montague Is Identified in 1930 Robbery

Former Convict Says Hol- lywood Golfer Was Member of Gang

DESCRIBES HOLDUP

Also Details Events Lead- ing Up to Raid on Roadhouse

Elizabethtown, N. Y.—(AP)—Hollywood's John Montague was identified today as a participant in a $700 Adirondack roadhouse robbery in 1930 by a man who has served a prison term for the crime.

Roger Norton, 35-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, truck driver, once convicted of the crime, sat calmly in a witness chair and testified Montague, then known as Laverne Moore, was an accomplice in the roadhouse robbery.

Asked by prosecutor Thomas W. McDonald if he could identify Moore in the court room, the soft-spoken witness pointed a finger toward Montague at the counsel table and said:

"That is Laverne Moore."

Montague, who won Hollywood acclaim by his golfing exploits, kept his eyes fixed on Norton throughout the former convict's testimony.

The pal of motion picture actors has admitted he is Laverne Moore, formerly a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., but denies participation in the robbery.

Voluntary Witness

Norton, who said he voluntarily testified against Montague on the seven-year-old charge, told in detail the events of the August, 1930, night when Kin Hana's roadhouse was held up at Jay, N. Y., 25 miles north of here.

Norton testified that he and Laverne Moore met William Carleton and John Sherry at Mechanicville, N. Y., and proceeded from there nearly 100 miles to the roadhouse.

Norton said he remained outside, the other three went in.

Later, the witness said, he heard Moore "holter for a blackjack"

8 Men Arraigned as Result of Ford Riot

Detroit—(AP)—Eight men charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm in connection with a riot May 26 at the Ford Motor Co. plant in suburban Dearborn stood mute when arraigned today before Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne.

Plas of not guilty were entered for them but no date was set for a hearing. Harry S. Toy, former Michigan Supreme court justice and attorney for seven of the defendants, said he would present a motion early next week to quash the charges.

The disturbance followed an attempt by the United Automobile Workers to distribute union literature near the plant.

The Ford Motor Co. and seven of its employees were indicted. The seven are Everett Moore, Wilfred Comment, Samuel Taylor, Worshon Sarkisian, Charles Goodman, Oscar Jones and Theodore Gries. The eighth defendant is Russell J. Edick, a former newspaper circulation worker.

New Loan Policy Will Make Workers Principal Creditors of Government

Washington—(AP)—A significant and substantial transfer of ownership of America's huge public debt from "the classes" to "the masses" has begun under the operation of the social security act.

Unless that statute is fundamentally revised, the movement will make American workers within a few years the chief creditors of the government, replacing the banks and wealthy investors in that role.

It will not be an individual ownership, in which a worker will hold a government bond, but a group ownership under which old age pension and unemployment insurance reserve funds will hold the bulk of outstanding federal bonds.

This transfer of ownership will have two direct effects. It will transfer the huge interest payments on the public debt to the workers. It also will permit the collection of taxes on some of the wealth now invested in tax-exempt bonds.

The extent to which this shift of ownership has suddenly begun to take place was disclosed in President Roosevelt's revised budget statement this week.

Rhode Island Track Battle Goes to Court

Pawtucket Will Appeal to Highest Tribunal, If Necessary

FUNDS ARE VOTED

Quinn Scored for 'Flag- rant and Dictatorial Abuse of Power'

Providence, R. I.—(AP)—Aroused by declaration of martial law at the Narragansett race track, adjoining Pawtucket prepared today to carry its fight against Governor Robert E. Quinn's "flagrant and dictatorial abuse of power" to the United States Supreme court, if necessary.

A short time after the executive, in a radio address, declared he ordered martial law at the Pawtucket racing plant as the only "way left to me to preserve the honor and dignity of the state" the board of aldermen and common council acted.

Special Committee

It named a special committee headed by Mayor Thomas P. McCoy to protect the "rights, lives and liberty" of Pawtucket residents and voted it unlimited funds to engage counsel to carry its fight, if necessary, to the nation's highest court.

In a resolution, the board criticized the governor's drastic action of last Saturday in sending the national guard to the racing plant and asserted it had "deprived thousands of residents of the city of Pawtucket of the right and liberty" guaranteed to them by federal and state constitutions.

"Abuse of Power"

"It is the sworn duty," said the resolution "of the duly elected representatives in the city of Pawtucket to resist by all lawful means the tyrannical abuse of power by the said Governor Robert E. Quinn and to protect the lives, liberty, and property of the citizens of Pawtucket."

McCoy is a political and personal friend of Walter E. O'Hara, managing director of the race track, and lost the democratic gubernatorial nomination last year to Quinn.

Ross $10 Ransom Note in Hands of Federal Agents

Chicago—(AP)—A $10 note which had been included in the $50,000 ransom paid to the kidnapers of Charles S. Ross was turned over to federal authorities today.

The bill was produced by Mrs. Clara Ludwig, 41, of suburban Blue Island, who said it came into her possession Tuesday night and she had it "all this time without knowing."

Ross was kidnaped the night of Sept. 25 and has not been returned although his family paid the ransom. Announcement of serial numbers of the ransom bills was made Tuesday by the federal bureau of investigation.

Published lists of the numbers attracted Mrs. Ludwig's attention and she compared the numbers with her money. She communicated with authorities at once. Information as to how she got possession of the bill was withheld.

Mrs. Ludwig is employed as a clerk in the Rock Island freight office.

Embalmed Body Mystery Faces Federal Probe

Sheriff Hints at Attempt to Link Death With Abduction Case

Edina, Mo.—(AP)—Sheriff Charles Flanke of Knox county, Mo., said this morning R. L. Johnson of the federal bureau of investigation had decided to investigate further the mystery of an embalmed, charred body found in a burned automobile Wednesday morning near here.

Flanke said ashes found in the car revealed early this morning that a suitcase apparently containing articles belonging to a woman had been in the car when it burned. He listed beads, hairpins and a powder box.

No personal belongings of the dead man were found, he said.

The sheriff indicated the government's interest was the possibility the body might be that of Charles Ross, Chicago kidnap victim, but that nothing had been found to connect the case with Ross' disappearance.

Coroner Keith Hudson planned a complete autopsy and inquest after first examination showed the body contained embalming fluid and that cotton filled the mouth and throat.

The Missouri sheriff said flames had destroyed most distinguishing features, but added examination showed three teeth in the lower jaw and none in the upper.

(Earl J. Connelley of the federal force working on the Ross kidnaping case in Chicago revealed Ross had a full set of teeth.)

Discover New Weapon In War on Criminals

San Francisco—(AP)—A new method of solving "perfect" crimes has emerged from the blazing furnaces of three California scientists.

Literally fighting fire with fire, the pathologists in a series of blood incineration experiments believe they have ended uselessness of fire to criminals in destroying tell-tale blood stains in murder cases.

Paradoxically, the experiments apparently demonstrated that blood not only could be identified after heating to 500 degrees or more, but that heating blood to such high temperatures actually offered one of the best means of blood identification.

Details of the experiments were disclosed today in a report by Drs. Jesse L. Carr, Frederick Proeschner and A. M. Moody to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

In experiments conducted in large gas furnaces at temperatures of 500 to 1,600 degrees the doctors discovered incinerated blood developed a "definite pattern similar to a multiple collection of pentagonal rings."

Witness Tells of Airliner's Crash

Trapper Heard Smashup After Plane Barely Missed Back Yard

Salt Lake City—(AP)—A young trapper's eye-witness account of the nation's worst airplane disaster provided federal investigators with important new clues today to the cause of the crash which killed 19 persons.

Height Profitt described his amazement at seeing United Air Lines' transcontinental "mainliner" barely miss his back yard, high in a northeastern Utah wilderness Sunday night. Then, he said he heard the great plane crash into 10,000-foot peak.

Profitt's lonely cabin 80 miles east of here is less than a mile from where the plane cracked up in a storm.

Investigations by United Air Lines, by the postal department and by the Utah Aeronautics commission already are under way. An inquiry by a special department of commerce committee will start Saturday.

Profitt said he watched the plane's lights passing over his cabin.

"The big ship was flying low through a bad blizzard, and it barely missed some tall pines behind my cabin. It had just got out of sight when I heard a terrible crash. I hurried through the dark, in the storm, and found the wreckage and bodies scattered all around. I could see no one was alive, so I set out for the nearest ranch, 15 miles away."

Union Workers Reject Settlement Proposal

Manitowoc—(AP)—A strike at Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company plants here and at Two Rivers entered its fifth week today, following rejection by union workers of a tentative proposal for settlement.

A F. of L. members in the two cities voted yesterday against a compromise reached by a bargaining committee Tuesday. A union official said the tentative work schedule had called for an eight hour day, time and a half for overtime and a five-day week except during the rush seasons when employees would work six days.

Ernest Luebke, president of the Aluminum Workers' local said after rejecting the compromise strikers presented their terms to the company through the bargaining committee, and the company refused to meet them.

He said the terms included an immediate 25 cent an hour pay raise, another wage boost to be determined later, and a discussion at a future date of a closed shop provision.

Gijon Yields To Franco in Spanish War

Insurgents Take Last Im- portant City in North- western Area

TROOPS SURRENDER

Additional Forces Expec- ted to Give Selves Up To Fascists

Irun, Spain—(AP)—Insurgent Generalissimo Franco, strengthening his grip on Spanish territory with capture of Gijon, today named a national council modeled after Italy's fascist grand council to help him govern.

Announcement that the decree had been signed, naming the council, was broadcast by the insurgent state party along with first official reports of the fall of the northern seaport.

Pilar Primo de Rivera, daughter of the one-time dictator under the ousted King Alfonso, was among those named to the council, a step towards creation of a civil government under Franco's dictatorship—the now controls about two-thirds of Spain.)

Hundreds of war-weary government troops, beaten back to the sea by Franco's relentless army, laid down their arms to surrender the port city of Gijon at noon today.

News that this last important government-held city in all of north-west Spain had capitulated spread quickly through government forces in other sectors of Asturias province and squads of Asturian miners who had been besieging near by Oviedo for more than a year marching north to throw themselves at the mercy of the insurgents.

(The miners' army for more than a year had laid siege to Oviedo, held grimly by an insurgent garrison.)

Franco's officers here declared they expected mass surrender of remaining government forces in the north within a few days.

Confusing Reports

Insurgent control of Gijon left the Valencia government troops holding only a tiny bit of bay of Biscay coastline from Gijon west to a few miles the other side of Aviles.

Eden Lauds Italy For Plan to End Rift Over Spain

Tells Commons Britain Will Keep Mediter- ranean Route Open

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

Points to Italian and German Modifica- tion of Views

London—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, addressing commons at the opening of the fall session, today thanked Italy for making at "the eleventh hour" her new and "very welcome" contribution to Europe's program of non-intervention in Spain—by agreeing to preliminary steps for withdrawal of foreign fighters in insurgent armies.

Eden reiterated, however, Britain's determination "to maintain a right-of-way on this main arterial road"—the Mediterranean.

Britain is united, he continued, in wanting the government to take no sides in a purely Spanish matter but "there will be no indifference on the part of the British government where it is clear that vital British interests are concerned." (Such as protection of her Mediterranean route to her colonies.)

The foreign secretary declared that both Italy and Germany had "substantially modified their views" on the relation of withdrawal of volunteers from Spain and the granting of belligerent rights to the Spanish combatants.

Italian Proposal

He added that the Italians had proposed the "acceptable plan" for deciding on the proportions of withdrawal of foreign volunteers from either army on the basis of figures to be submitted by a commission to be sent to Spain.

Turning to the Far Eastern situation, Eden pledged Britain's determination to "do everything in its power to insure success" of the Nov. 30 nine-power conference in Brussels which will attempt to mediate the Chinese-Japanese war. He said Italy would send a delegation and that French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos would represent France.

British officials began work today on proposals for setting up an international commission to tabulate the number of foreign warriors in Spain and see that they are withdrawn.

The plan will be submitted to the Spanish neutrality subcommittee tomorrow.

At the same time the committee is expected to decide whether the first withdrawals shall be in equal numbers from each side of the civil war.

See Hitler Action

There was more than a suspicion in London that Chancellor Hitler of Germany was responsible for the change in Italy's opposition to evacuation of the outsiders from Spain—a development yesterday which was viewed widely as a serious threat to general European peace.

Some London newspapers suggested that Hitler—since he was not ready to risk war—had told Premier Mussolini of Italy to moderate his stand after Joachim von Ribbentrop, German ambassador to London, flew to Germany Monday and apparently reported that France and Britain meant business.

Share Prices Rise

The about face apparently was a demonstration of the Rome-Berlin friendship axis but one that for a change was welcomed in Paris and London.

Italy's withdrawal of objections to the British-French plan for restricting of alien troops resulted in shooting up prices of London stock market. The same optimism was reflected in most European quarters.

2 Labor Factions Must Bridge Wide Gulf at Confabs

First Conference May Not Bring More Than Preliminary Steps

Washington—(U)—American Federation of Labor and CIO leaders will have a wide gulf to bridge when they start talking peace next Monday.

All sides agree the first conference probably can accomplish no more than a few preliminary steps toward reunion.

The caution with which each side will proceed was forecast by the recent exchange of telegrams arranging the conference.

The rebel CIO meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., last week, sent the A. F. of L. the first offer to talk peace.

Rejected Offers
Two CIO offers were rejected by the A. F. of L. but the CIO's third proposal was accepted. It called for a meeting of committees of indefinite size "with or without stipulations."

The A. F. of L. executive council decided to send its committee of three, headed by George Harrison, president of the railway workers, to the capital next Monday to meet the CIO committee of 10, headed by Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine workers.

In both camps, leaders agreed that the conference's first job would be to adjust the size of the committees.

Say Group Too Small
CIO leaders say the federation's small committee is completely under the control of the A. F. of L. executive council. They want a committee representative of more of the federation's 100 unions. The council speaks directly for only 15 of the federation's larger unions.

After determining the size of the small committee, the "stipulation" issue would have to be settled. If the CIO insisted on recognition of its principles as right before negotiations started, they say, the whole conference might break up before any concrete peace suggestions were made.

Unity Seen for Riparian Groups

Fox Valley Association Friendly Toward Newly Organized Body

Oshkosh—(U)—The Fox River Valley Association, for Relief of High Water, a group of riparian land owners meeting in annual convention yesterday, adopted a resolution expressing confidence in the efforts of a sister organization to secure flood control for the Fox and Wolf rivers.

The newly-organized sister group is the Fox and Wolf Rivers Conservation and Improvement association, composed of officials from cities in the valleys of both streams. Both organizations advocate federal or state construction of dams and reservoirs to prevent seasonal overflows. The project would cost $12,000,000 it is estimated.

Federal engineers recently condemned the proposal as unfeasible but the state was given until Nov. 1 to appear in Washington before the rivers and harbors commission to make an appeal. Lawrence F. Jones, Fond du Lac, chairman of the newer of the two groups, said yesterday evidence for such an appeal had been gathered in cooperation with the state planning board and would be presented.

The Association for the Relief of High Water yesterday also elected officers for the coming year, choosing Alan H. Tipton, Fremont, as president; George Overton, Butler, as vice president; Otto Engelhoff, Fond du Lac, secretary; and W. J. Kelly, Van Dyne, treasurer.

Phillip Vort, Appleton, Edward Sonnenberg, Menasha, and Lawrence Jones, Fond du Lac, represented the sister group at the meeting.

Name Regional Heads of PWA Works Program

Washington—(U)—Administration Ickes named the directors today for the seven regional offices which will take over work now done in PWA state headquarters.

They include:
Region two: (Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia) Director David R. Kennicott, present state director for Illinois Headquarters, Chicago.

The regional directors, who will have charge of the $2,000,000,000 construction program now under way on nearly 3,000 projects, have been called to Washington to confer with PWA chiefs.

The meeting probably will be held at the end of next week.

Eden Thanks Italy For Proposed Plan to call what they described as "Italy's bluff"—which might have resulted from failure of the non-intervention talks.

Pressure From Reich
The Herald said the "sudden change was due to strong pressure from the German government which was dismayed by the thought that the French and perhaps the British governments might take strong action if there were a complete breakdown."

At the same time the anti-government press questioned the sincerity of the Italian move and asked if it were not merely a stall for time in order to permit the Spanish insurgents, aided by Italy, to complete its northern campaign, and then move in force on Madrid.

FEVERISH STOCK TRADING SWAMPS HIGH SPEED TICKERS
Feverish trading in stocks produced this scene in the financial news department of the Association Press office in New York. Tape from the high speed tickers filled the baskets and overflowed to the floor, reminiscent of 1929, as these men labored to keep the quotations moving over the market wires.

Sportsmen May Wear Buckskins Or Top Hats to Party Tonight

Hunters and fishermen may attend the Sportsmen's party this evening at the Eagles hall in any kind of clothes they wish to wear, just as long as they come to the party, F. M. For, general chairman, said today.

However, the committee urges that outdoor clothes be worn by as many party goers as possible to provide a sportsmen's atmosphere.

"So come to the party in buckskins or top hat and tails, but be sure and come to the party," he said.

Following an address by Roy Straus, an official of the Wisconsin Conservation department, a real program of entertainment will be presented.

The highlight of the evening will be a kangaroo court conducted by Andrew Parnell. George Lausman will whistle several numbers and George Steinhart will entertain on the harmonica.

R. L. Swanson, an instructor at Wilson Junior High school, will show a motion picture in color taken in northern Minnesota last summer. E. C. Moore, well known Appleton band director, does the fly casting demonstration in the film.

The Appleton chapter of the Izaak Walton league, sponsors of the party, welcomes anyone interested in hunting and fishing.

Madison Woman Chosen Head of Voters' League

Green Bay—(U)—Mrs. Ray Brown, Madison, was elected president of the Wisconsin League of Women Voters as the league concluded its thirteenth biennial convention here yesterday.

Mrs. A. W. Schorger, Madison, retiring president, was named first vice president; Mrs. William A. Norris, Milwaukee, second vice president; Mrs. John McHale, Green Bay, third vice president; Mrs. Phelps Wyman, Milwaukee, fourth vice president; Mrs. Joseph Gale, Madison, secretary; and Mrs. Wendell Phelps, Milwaukee, treasurer.

Salon of Art to Give Wisconsin Artists $275

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—Awards totaling $275 will be distributed to Wisconsin-trained artists when the jury of the fourth annual Wisconsin Salon of Art meets Nov. 7 to judge their works. The exhibit will open Nov. 11 at the Memorial Union on the campus of the University of Wisconsin, and will be on public view from Nov. 12 to Dec. 9, inclusive.

The jury will consist of Dr. Walter Gropius of Harvard university, John Stewart Curry of the University of Wisconsin, and a member not yet chosen.

Suffers Back Injury When Car Loses Wheel

John Pompa, 19, route 3, Appleton, suffered a back injury in an automobile accident last night about two miles southwest of Stephentown. The wheel of the car he was driving came off and the machine went into the ditch. Pompa was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Informed sources said Eden probably would be subjected to heavy criticism by the government's parliamentary opposition along just that line.

It was pointed out that anything might happen during the time it will take the proposed commission to inspect the fronts in Spain and set up the evacuation machinery.

The insurgent sea blockade of the Spanish government's northwestern port, Gijon, continued to not for ship shipping. While the insurgent army forced the port city to surrender, the admiralty announced the British steamer Santogro, reportedly captured by an insurgent trawler off Gijon yesterday, had been released on demand of the British cruiser Southampton. The Santogro proceeded toward Bordeaux, France.

Should Generalissimo Francisco Franco be granted belligerent rights, he will have the power to search and seize suspected contraband carriers even outside Spanish waters.

League Acts as Clearing House For State Cities

Organization Has Membership of 408 Municipalities

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—A veritable clearing house of information on the many, varied and vexing problems which confront the governmental bosses of 407 cities, villages and towns in Wisconsin is the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, which maintains headquarters here.

During the past year service facilities of the league, which now has the greatest membership in its history, including Appleton, Green Bay, and all nearby municipalities, have been greatly increased. During the last 12 months the league staff answered more than 2,000 separate inquiries on municipal problems by perplexed local officials.

Is the mayor of Clintonville, De Pere, or Chilton worrying about the legality of a new road? The league's counsel will advise him.

Does the council of Neenah, or Waupaca, or Oconto have doubts about the wisdom of a civil service ordinance? The league will supply data on the experience of other, similarly situated cities, in Wisconsin and elsewhere.

Permanent Quarters
Recently the League's executive officers decided to establish permanent headquarters in its own building here, and on a basis which will increase the working efficiency of the organization's staff.

Chief in the organization's main office is slight, energetic Frederick W. MacMillin, who became the first full-time paid executive secretary about eight years ago.

MacMillin edits the league's magazine, packed with information for municipal officers each month, supervises the research projects undertaken by its staff, answers the questions of puzzled local authorities, especially those put by new ones after each spring election, and maintains a year-round lobby in Madison before the legislature and the many departments of the state government in the interests of municipal welfare.

Has Ready Information
Says he: "The league is now equipped to supply information on about any aspect of municipal government and administration. If the information is not available in the league's rapidly increasing store of material, it usually can be secured from other organizations with which the league has contacts. Municipal officials are invited to inspect the league library and file information on their next visit to Madison."

Bring on your questions and your municipal problems, he advises local officials.

A professional political scientist, MacMillin is enthusiastic about the progress of the league, believes that it has aided greatly in the "substantial advances made in Wisconsin on the municipal front."

Recently the league organized a field service, through which its representatives go into local communities and discuss with local officers their immediate problems, and offer expert information grounded in the experiences of other cities in similar circumstances.

Other league activities include mimeographed studies, on such subjects as municipal planning, annexation procedure for cities, model ordinances on currently important subjects, training of municipal personnel, planning, zoning and many others.

Representing now 98 per cent of the urban population of Wisconsin, the league's activities last year were carried out on a budget of slightly less than $20,000, made up mainly of membership dues contributed by member municipalities.

Present heads of the league, besides MacMillin, are Mayor J. H. Wallis of Rice Lake, president, and Village President R. J. Eckstein, Cassville, vice president.

Mayor John Goodland Jr., Appleton, is a member of the board of trustees of the organization, and at its annual convention recently was nominated for the presidency.

Vernon Grupe, superintendent of Menasha city parks, secretary of the league's park and recreation section, while John O'Leary, Neenah city attorney, is a member of the group's model ordinance committee. A past president is former village president Anton Jansen of Little Chute.

Green Bay Youth 14th of Clan to Attend Lawrence

Sixty-three of the 223 students in the freshman class at Lawrence college are relatives of former students of the institution.

Seventeen-year-old George Fisk of Green Bay has the greatest lineal claim on the college. He is the fourteenth Fisk in four generations to attend Lawrence.

He was preceded by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Fisk, his great-grandfather, William J. Fisk, great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Driggs Fisk, great-uncle, William D. Fisk, and eight cousins.

One cousin, the late Hiram C. Fisk of Green Bay, established a scholarship giving financial aid to deserving students. The scholarship is still in effect.

An Eagle scout, George Fisk is living at Brokaw hall and carrying the usual subjects required of freshmen.

Margaret Banta of Menasha is another freshman for whom Lawrence is a family tradition. Her father, George Banta, Jr., a Lawrence trustee, mother, two cousins, an aunt and an uncle have attended the college.

Thomas Gochbauer of Appleton who is starting his first year at Lawrence is the eighth member of the family to attend. There has been a member of the Gochbauer family enrolled at Lawrence intermittently since 1886.

Three freshmen students are the sixth members of their families to attend Lawrence. They are John Rosebush and Mary Greb, Appleton, and Florence Wiehe, Lake Mills.

Civil Service to Conduct Exams for Tax Division Jobs

Fifty-One Posts to be Filled After Tests On Oct. 30

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—It won't be long now until Uncle Sol Levitan's much publicized beverage tax division of the state treasury is completely under civil service. Since the state treasurer's inauguration almost a year ago, the division has been pointed out by political foes as a harbor for deserving Progressives.

Now, however, the division is being pointed out by political foes as a harbor for deserving Progressives.

This week officials of the bureau of personnel announced that notices of civil service examinations for 51 jobs in the department have been mailed to the 5,000 prospective office holders, and that the examinations will be given in 30 cities throughout the state on Saturday, Oct. 30. Posts to be filled are those of 15 inspectors, 15 enforcement officers, 15 inventory clerks, a law counsel, chief enforcer, editor, and chief inspector.

Last Under 1937 Law
With examinations for clerical help and field supervisors already held and lists certified for beverage tax and farm and home credit administrations, the Oct. 30 exams will be the last given under the 1937 law putting these two divisions under civil service.

All told, more than 10,000 public spirited citizens applied to take examinations to enter the public service in Mr. Levitan's beverage tax department, the largest number in the history of the civil service system in Wisconsin.

Cities in which examinations will be held on Oct. 30 include Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay, Fond du Lac, Wausau, Stevens Point, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Marinette and Oshkosh in the central and northeastern areas.

Appleton's New High School Is Half Completed

Contractor Estimates 55 Per Cent of Building Finished

Appleton's new senior high school building is 55 per cent completed and estimates show the construction only 1 per cent behind schedule, officials of the Maurice Schumacher Construction company, general contractors, said today.

The roof over the academic section of the structure will be completed in a few days and the contractor expects to finish the roof over the auditorium in about 10 days. Roofs over the gymnasium and shop units are completed.

Plumbing and heating contractors have begun work and metal lathing is being installed in wall partitions. Concrete steps of all entrances have been poured and installation of tiling has been started.

Four Distinct Units

The building is composed of four distinct units, the academic section, the gymnasium, the auditorium and the shop and boiler rooms. The main section will be comprised of 75 rooms. It is flanked on the south end by the gym and on the north by the auditorium. A 122-foot passage connects the academic section with the fourth unit, and the shop and boiler room. This is a building separate from and behind the main buildings.

The boiler room is nearly finished and is one of the few rooms below the ground level. Three 15-ton boilers are installed and a smaller furnace will be used to heat water for school use. A 5-foot square flue carries smoke and fumes from the boiler to a huge smoke stack, 110 feet from its base to its uppermost section. The stack rises slightly over 100 feet from the ground level and has a 16-foot footing.

The auditorium has an artistic entrance of red stone with three figures above the entrance named music, drama and sculpture. Above the first story windows of the academic section are large square black stones with a universal design in each. The auditorium will seat 1,800 persons.

Large Gymnasium

One of the largest high school gymnasiums in the state is under construction at the school. The building is 108 by 160 feet and will have a playing floor 83 by 48 feet. A balcony with three tiers of concrete seats is being constructed on three sides of the floor and receding bleachers will be installed on the main floor to make a total seating capacity of over 2,000 persons.

At the east side of the gym will be built handball and squash courts, locker rooms, shower rooms, equipment rooms and drying rooms for athletic equipment. When bleachers are retracted, a sliding, folding curtain forms a partition dividing the main gymnasium into two rooms each the size of the playing floor.

The shop section will have rooms for printing, machine work, wood work, drafting, auto mechanics and tools. The building is scheduled for completion on March 1, 1938, however, a longer time may be necessary.

Barrows, Lawrence Head, Leaves on Trip to East

President Thomas N. Barrows of Lawrence college left for the east today where he will attend a committee meeting of the National Interfraternity Conference at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Saturday. He also will go to New York City on business, returning early next week.

George Banta, Jr., of Menasha, a Lawrence trustee and member of the national committee, also is expected to attend the meeting at Poughkeepsie.

Seek Officers For Signal Corps Of Reserve Army

Telephone and Telegraph Company Employees Are Eligible

Applicants for commissions as officers in the signal corps reserve of the army are being sought in Appleton and vicinity, it has been announced by Major Thomas G. Poland, Green Bay, in charge of reserve army activities in this section of the state. It is the first time in many years the branch has been open.

Applicants must be under 35 years of age and must possess necessary vocational, professional or technical experience. They must be graduate engineers or have experience with telephone or telegraph companies, experience with carrier pigeons or in meteorological work such as with the weather bureau.

Under the new organization tables of the army the signal corps becomes a separate organization which supplies various units with signal corps men. Formerly units had their own signal corps.

Persons interested should write to Major Poland at the federal building, Green Bay. They will be required to pass physical examinations and take a correspondence course in several basic army subjects.

Major Poland also has announced that a mobilization meeting of officers of the 22nd Evacuation Hospital, with headquarters in Green Bay, will be held at Green Bay, Thursday, Oct. 28. Several doctors in Appleton and the vicinity are members of the unit.

The meeting will be held at the Northland hotel starting at 6 o'clock and dinner will be served at 8:30. Several army officers including Major A. J. Shimel, commanding the unit, will be speakers.

Says Charges Can't be Kept Outside County

Madison (AP)—Attorney General Orland S. Loomis advised District Attorney John H. Matheson of Rock county today that a county cannot legally contract with a private institution in another county for support and maintenance of persons who are inmates of a county home.

"A municipality in which a county home is established cannot contract with any person to conduct the same or to support and maintain the inmates thereof," Loomis said.

In an opinion to the state banking commission Loomis ruled that state banks, savings banks and trust company banks may invest in federal housing association insured real estate mortgage loans on property no matter where it is located.

Youth Injured While Crossing Oneida Street

John Brewer, 17, 827 W. Spencer street, was bruised about the head and one leg in an accident about 1:20 Tuesday afternoon on E. North street. It is believed the youth was running across the street and fell. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Reckless Driver Is Fined by Judge Ryan

Raymond Arndt, Fremont, pleaded guilty of reckless driving and was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the Outagamie county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court Tuesday afternoon.

Arndt was arrested by county police in the town of Horton Monday.

Albert Huss, town of Freedom, pleaded guilty of assault and battery and was fined $1 and costs. He was charged with assaulting Matt Taul, town of Freedom, in the village of Freedom Saturday.

Falling Needles From Evergreens Not Disease Sign

They are Shed Naturally at Certain Times, Expert Explains

Assurance that there is no reason to fear that a serious malady is overtaking evergreens grown by home owners of this state was given today by E. L. Chambers, state entomologist, in a bulletin to R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural agent.

The announcement was made because of numerous requests made of the department of agriculture and markets for information as to why needles on many evergreens are turning brown and falling.

The needles on the inner branches of arborvitae, pines and retinosporas are shed naturally every two or three years, depending upon the species, Chambers pointed out, adding that a careful examination will reveal new buds breaking to replace the foliage lost.

When the outer needles turn brown during the summer, it is usually due to red spider injury, and this mite can be controlled by spraying the foliage with a heavy fan spray of water created by manipulating the thumb over the end of the hose. Dusting with superfine dusting sulphur or spraying with a very light blue glue spray are also effective control measures, Chambers explained.

Winter Injury Because evergreens planted in exposed locations frequently suffer serious winter injury when the soil around the roots freezes up a little dry, it is recommended that the ground around such trees be thoroughly soaked with water late in the fall just before the ground freezes solid.

Thousands of balsam and spruce trees growing in the forest and cut-over land of the northeastern countries of this state are dead or dying, Chambers said, because of injury from unusually high summer temperatures occurring over several days during the summer of 1936 when the soil temperature reached 120 degrees or more. Many of these trees were brown this spring and new growth started on the outer top of the branches, giving the trees a green fringe temporarily, but most of them died during the summer.

Lecturer Tells of Spanish Conflict

Discusses Strife Between Democratic and Fascist Nations

Waupaca — The civil conflict in Spain between the democratic and fascist forces was the subject discussed by Dr. H. J. McMurray, professor of political science, University of Wisconsin, to a forum lecture audience Wednesday night in the library.

Dr. McMurray's lecture was the third of a series of eight to be given each Wednesday night to an audience interested in current political economic and social problems.

Giving a background of the conflict, the degrees of German and Italian participation on the rebel side, of Soviet aid to the loyalists, he said the Germans are there primarily for the amount of raw materials which they can secure through trade agreements or future purchases through the rebels.

The Italians are there for the same reason to some extent, and also because they feel they can better their prestige in the Mediterranean Russia is there, probably, because of the natural that she has fear of Germany and Italy becoming united.

DOING A JOB AND DOING IT WELL

In Governor Landon's radio talk Tuesday night the Kansan made reference to an important but long forgotten episode in American history. The people should thank him for recollecting and presenting it.

It was about 35 years ago that the insurance scandals were presented before the American public in all their shameful details. Only the generation that had arrived at maturity in those days are familiar with that very unpleasant history. The generations that have grown up since should not only be placed in possession of the facts but would improve their comprehension of public questions if they labored through all the details.

Charges had been made, and supported now and then by some evidence, that financiers with somewhat unscrupulous records had worked themselves into control of the vast life insurance companies of the country. Enough had come out to demonstrate that the smoke was real and that an intense fire was burning some place.

So we proceeded in the sensible and praiseworthy steps of all intelligent government: We appointed a commission of independent examiners directed by a vigorous, clear-headed, dependable lawyer named Hughes, now Chief Justice of the supreme court.

Hughes tore away the sodden mass that was concealing the fire from the public view. And what a stench arose to the heavens! James Hazen Hyde, president of the Equitable, quit America and has ever since resided in France. Directors of many insurance companies exposed for using the treasury to bolster up their private concerns, resigned by the score.

But of course that didn't satisfy Hughes. He considered his commission as requiring him to turn out a remedy; a preventative of the recurrence of any such shameful procedure.

Hughes then wrote what is known as the New York life insurance law, a rule copied by nearly every state in the country, and under which the life insurance companies have prospered as guardian of billions of dollars of the people's money invested to secure over 60 million policies.

When Hughes finished his job it never became necessary for someone to come along and do it over again. His work was not performed for cheers nor within their hearing. It was the silent and unnoticed work of a great statesman performed so perfectly that when the depression tornado struck America with the most vicious fury ever known the life insurance companies stood up and fairly laughed at it.

The point Mr. Landon sought to make becomes evident when one compares a great work from which has flowered happiness, contentment and progress, with the bungling impulsiveness that has characterized so much of the New Deal.

For the Republican party, when it comes to power in the 1940 election, will be principally engaged in rewriting the good ideas of the New Deal into efficient and practical form.

THE GOVERNOR STUNG BY THE TIMES

Under opinions of others we are printing tonight an editorial from the Capital Times, a newspaper that so constantly supports the Progressives even when they are tight with jam all over their faces that its sharp criticism will naturally provoke comment.

Whether Governor LaFollette has appointed Mr. Gunderson to the Tax Commission to sidetrack him from becoming ambitious for governor or senator is a conclusion that anyone may draw who pleases but is not sustainable by direct evidence unless the governor makes such a declaration.

We fail to find any evidence to support the charge, or anything that looks like evidence.

Governor LaFollette is so clearly recognized as the leader of his party in the state that the Post-Crescent has often complained that his position seemed to be inherited and that he ruled sort of the way the Duke of Windsor did before he quit.

Certainly Governor LaFollette isn't afraid of Mr. Gunderson interfering between him and another nomination for governor or a nomination for senator upon the Progressive ticket.

The inference that some wily, cunning advisors induced the governor to make the appointment for their own cussed purposes is the importation of a charge on the Russian manner, the Soviets never requiring evidence but only a rumbling voice to make the charge and the vigor to keep making it.

If we were inclined to make charges as lightly what would prevent us from saying that we read out of the Gunderson attack the personal pique of the Capital Times so constantly evidenced when its counsels are not followed.

If nothing worse can be demonstrated against Governor LaFollette's administration that gentleman must bear a charmed political life.

A BEAUTIFUL VIEW OF AMERICA

In Rhode Island there is a plot of ground containing several acres owned by a private corporation and dedicated to the purpose of horse-racing, a legal undertaking.

Today, against the will of the owner, that ground is occupied by iron-hatted men in khaki, automatics on their hips, rifles over their shoulders.

These men will not permit the entrance even of newspaper correspondents or photographers. Pictures either by word or photograph might arouse the public to the chains that are being slowly forged upon their limbs.

We are not so very far from the list of grievances that Thomas Jefferson wrote into the Declaration of Independence to justify the Revolution. If you think we overstate the matter read that Declaration and consider again the acts of rulers that were then held to be abhorrent in the sight of freemen.

But vent not your spleen so quickly upon Governor Quinn. Does he not follow in a rut made by others? Is using the power of the state to violently adjust a personal quarrel or avenge a personal enmity altogether strange in America?

We have a Secretary of Labor who didn't know a sit-down strike was unlawful, who gave support to those other Quinns who were taking over factories in the name of Labor, which they disgraced.

And then there were those Quinns who so wrote the Wagner law that 10 per cent, or even 1 per cent, of the workers in a plant could ham-string an entire industry and remain immune while governors, like Earle of Pennsylvania, sat idly by considering their own political fortunes, $800,000 campaign contributions wrung from workmen, and the like. Just where is there anything more wrong in the tyranny of Quinn of Rhode Island and these other abusers of a public trust?

Then there is Quinn Cummings, the first police court lawyer to be made Attorney-General, yet not an improper appointment so long as police court justices may wend their way to the Supreme court under a hooded nightgown.

Quinn Cummings turned all the powerful machinery of the federal judicial system against Andrew Mellon, the same machinery used to save Jimmy Walker, a fugitive from justice; Guffey, indicted for embezzlement, Huey Long's friends indicted for nearly everything on the calendar; and that still countenances the sale to corporations of old telephone books and soap wrappers at $250 per, the said $250 to be neatly deposited in the Democratic campaign fund.

Of course the mob needed some "princely appeasement." Mob must be entertained. They are prolific with votes. What better than to throw to them the aged body of old Mellon? Yet on a one side presentation before a grand jury the members of that jury didn't have the stomach to even return an indictment against the Pittsburgher.

Quinn of Rhode Island is only a governor. The higher a man is the greater his sin for abuse of power.

In reality a tyrant, whatever his position, is just a political gangster, a hoodlum of the public platform.

Opinions Of Others

THE GUNDERSON MANEUVER
The appointment of Lieut. Gov. Henry Gunderson to the state tax commission was a brazen piece of business. It was a prostitution of public service to serve political expediency and promote the plans of scheming, behind-the-scenes politicians.

Mr. Gunderson was not appointed to the tax commission because he was the best man qualified for the job. He was appointed in order to get him out of the way in the 1938 campaign. Gunderson having intimated that he would be a candidate for governor or United States senator.

The little clique of scheming politicians who surround the governor in the governor's office are already pulling wires for the 1938 campaign and the idea of having Gunderson loose at that time didn't fit in with their plans. And so Gunderson is shelved by giving him a $5,000 a year job on the tax commission.

And what of Gunderson? Will he bring to the tax commission a high sense of public service or the attitude of the typical officeholder? When he was elected lieutenant governor, Gunderson proceeded to get his daughter on the state payroll. Then he threatened to take red of the beverage tax commission didn't give his son-in-law a job in that department. Now, despite civil service rules, it is reported that Gunderson will attempt to keep his daughter on the payroll via the tax commission.

The pie counter urge is sinking deep into the vitals of the Progressive movement. If Progressives can stomach the Gunderson maneuver, there is another beauty to look at. It is reported that Sen. Phil Nelson, the political chameleon in many administrations will soon turn up with a luscious appointment. A fine kettle of fish.—The Capital Times (Madison, Wis.).

So you actually hold the biggest president of modern times responsible for deliberately appointing a former member of the KKK to the Supreme Court. That's a new one.

(Ed. Note: New? Senator Burke was trying to prove the truth before the Black nomination was confirmed. No one would listen to him. It took a reporter to force Black to admit something that he should have admitted long before.)

Do you know how many of the public officials of today — white and Protestant and over 38 years old — joined the KKK when it was all the rage up north in 1920? Who should be expected to know that?

(Ed. Note: Not me. I was in an Indiana grade school then.)

To change the subject, didn't Phil get sweet revenge on the Governor of Iowa Saturday? And isn't Stuhldreher a honey? Sure, and you and I will agree some day that the world is round, that water is wet, and it's a doggon shame the golf season is over.

THE JOY OF SEEING YOU

The joy of seeing you is such That it can gild the darkest day. The shadows run before your touch And every sorrow drifts away.

I do not care if Fortune smiles Or if my dearest dream comes true. I only ask, along the miles I walk, the joy of seeing you!

The joy of seeing you would be As if the sun should part. And I could face Infinity With your name singing in my heart! (Copyright, 1937)

WILL POWER AND CONSTIPATION

From experience and observation over many years I can consistently maintain that any one who is habitually constipated and a slave to physis, enema or other unnatural interference, can, if he will, win freedom for the rest of his life.

Will power means strength of mind, determination. The secret of the will power necessary to enable the victim of the physis habit to break the habit is a knowledge of physiology. Elementary physiology, simple enough for any child to understand. Yet it is hard to teach the average layman this lesson, because he knows so many things which ain't so.

He has been a lifelong student of almanacs, testimonials and quack doctor bait, and hence he is pretty thoroughly imbued with the idea of "auto-intoxication" or "poisoning of the system by absorption of toxic waste from the colon." He has this morbid fancy so fixed in his imagination that the truth scarcely makes any impression. The poor goof actually believes health, happiness and life itself depend on the daily use of one or another artificial "keep the bowels open."

Very few, even of college educated Americans, think it necessary to take something or do something daily to keep the respiration or the circulation a-quake. The nostrum mongers and quacks of Yankeland have not found it advisable to teach the gullible public that such regulations are essential.

The function of the digestive tract including the intestines is as completely under control of the autonomic or "sympathetic" (unconscious, involuntary) nervous system as is the respiration and the circulation. Any textbook or physiology explains this, but somehow the fact does not stand out in testimonials, circulars, pamphlets and other bait.

Food, medicine, massage, exercise, constant watching or introspection, and various ways and means of irritating or forcing action are all as important or unimportant in the control or regulation of the action of the lungs or the heart as they are in the control or regulation of the action of the bowels.

The taking of a laxative or cathartic seems a simple, harmless procedure in any circumstance—to the wisecrack; yet it is the straw that turns the scale against recovery in many cases of acute appendicitis, or example. But the voice of the honest doctor warning people about this and other injurious effects of physics is drowned out by the clamor of the nostrum mongers and charlatans crying their wares, and the great Yankee public spends $20,000,000 annually for laxatives under the gleeful belief that this shrewd trick keeps $20,000,000 out of the pockets of the rascally doctors.

Take a hundred or a thousand persons as they come, all subject to chronic or habitual constipation and addicted to this or that diet, enema or aperient medicine. Deprive them absolutely of their favorite "aid" to the bowel action for three months, and I'll wager twenty-five to one in each case that by the end of that time the individual will require no such laxative.

Discussion on value of calcium lactate and vitamin D in case of neighbor aged 58, who suffered fractured hip three months ago and still has no firm union but is confined to bed. (G.E.C.)

Answer—At least it could do no harm, might be helpful in promoting bony union.

Bread and Milk Club
I have been a (charter) member of the Bread and Milk Club for many years, let's see, just when did you start it? I believe it has brought several years of comfort to my life. (G.R.)

Answer—We opened the Club to voluntary membership November 7, 1914. Glad to send the By-Laws of the Bread and Milk Club to any reader who provides a stamped envelope bearing his correct address. No dues. You merely pay 24 hours respite to your stomach and metabolism each week.

Leucocytosis
What is leucocytosis. What causes it? (M.P.)

Answer—Temporary increase in number of leucocytes (phagocytes, scavenger cells) in the blood, occurring in infectious, or instance appendicitis, pneumonia. Normally there are 6000 to 8000 of these white blood corpuscles in each cubic millimeter of blood. If the blood count shows from 12,000 to 50,000 or more in the cubic millimeter, that indicates infection or acute inflammation with suppuration and also that the body is fighting the infection. Your Birthday

"LIBRA"

If October 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 A. M. until noon from 2 to 4 P. M., and from 8 to 10 P. M. The danger periods are from 6 to 10 A. M., from 4 to 6 P. M., and from 10 P. M. until midnight.

One of this day's greatest annoyances will originate from a desire on the part of the average person to emphasize his or her remarks by finger pointing, button-holing and other unnecessary using of their hands. Control the impulse to touch anyone. If you would avoid treading antagonism. It might be a good idea to keep up with your correspondence this day, for through the exchange of letters much good is likely to result. Through faint-heartedness, or showing the white feather, many a business deal will be lost. You will have to present a bold front and show plenty of spirit to stand by your guns successfully this day, so as to get the results you want. A word of appreciation, spoken at the psychological time, may help make someone very happy. Married and engaged couples, and those considering the advisability of becoming betrothed, should avoid arguments. Disputes will be the cause of many hopes being wrecked this day.

If a woman and October 22 is your birthday, you may exercise great control over some business enterprise or several people. You ought to be so enterprising and far-sighted that you may accomplish almost miracles. You probably do things without reserve or pretense, having possibly a strong dislike for anything bordering on sec-

A Bystander

In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington. Ask a competent navy officer if the United States navy theoretically could go over to the Orient and lick the Japanese and he will tell you:

"No."

That is an interesting sidelight on what the government's practical minds are thinking about when they talk of moral "suasion" in preference to sanctions and the like. The motto of the business is that if the navy ever should go 8,000 miles across the Pacific to fight a war, it would have to outnumber the enemy two to one. And by terms of the old, now repudiated, naval limitations treaty, the United States agreed not to build a navy twice as strong as Japan's. That was intended to make the Japanese feel safer. Thus the ratio was 5-3-3, or five units of naval power for Great Britain, five for the United States and three for Japan. Neither the British nor the United States navy under that arrangement had enough fighting power to upset Japan in its own waters. That was the security Japan sought.

The Present Lineup

Actually the relationship of these three powers is not vastly different now, even though the treaty has been repudiated by Japan and maintained only in a very hazy form by the United States and Great Britain. But the British building program will make it very different—when and if completed—and the two fancy-dress battleships ordered by the United States at $60,000,000 each probably will give the United States a greater theoretical edge over Japan than it had before, although Japan is building also.

Here is how they stack up now, as computed by the navy department:

	U. S.	G. B.	Japan
Battleships	15	15	9
Aircraft Carriers	3	6	4
Cruisers	26	53	32
Destroyers	183	174	94
Submarines	78	51	53

In addition, the United States is building 2 new battleships, 3 aircraft carriers, 11 cruisers, 61 destroyers and 18 submarines. Great Britain is building 2 battleships, 3 aircraft carriers, 16 cruisers, 34 destroyers and 14 submarines.

Japan is building 2 aircraft carriers, 4 cruisers, 18 destroyers and 7 submarines.

British and United States submarines and destroyers are mostly old. Japan's are mostly new. All the battleships are old in years but repeatedly modernized.

Far, Far Away

The nearest naval base to Japan in which United States ships could be reconditioned and repaired during a war is Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, about 5,000 miles from Tokyo. The Philippines independence act gave the United States the right to establish a naval station there, but nothing has ever been done about it.

The cost of a naval invasion of the Orient would be totaled in box-car numbers.

KING SINGS U. S. SONG

In all parts of England people are singing a song from the United States which King George sang with Boy Scouts in camp in South-walk in the summer. It is about the spreading chestnut tree. Er-rand boys are singing it and grown-ups hum it. Nobody knew who wrote it or where it came from until the Scout headquarters in London revealed that when one of the camp chiefs, Captain E. Gidney, heard scouts singing it round a camp fire in the United States he took it back to London with him and introduced it at Scout training camp at Gilwell Park. It spread to other camps. Then the King popularized it. After the first verse of the song actions depict words which are gradually omitted until only actions are used.

"SHE" BUYING LAND

Sir Rider Haggard's legendary in his fantastic novel of the same name, is negotiating with the Union of South Africa for 20,000 acres of land in the Lebata district, according to Johannesburg, South Africa, reports. Holder of one of the strangest dignities in the world, the woman Modjadje, of the Bolobedi tribe in Northern Transvaal, inspired the writer to tell of the monarch who held the secret of eternal youth. While not the same person described by him, the present woman holds the office and name and it is believed by the natives to be the same immortal one. Not even during the present negotiations does "She" abandon the veil secrecy behind which she dwells.

CANT DANCE WITH GIRL

Barrow, Alaska. (P)—The opposite sexes do not dance together in native Eskimo dances. Another custom is that only relatives may dance at one time and each participant dances by himself.

The "floor," on occasions during the short Arctic summer when such celebrations are held outdoors, may be pieces of walrus skin sewed together and laid on the sand. The musical instrument is something like the top of a drum, made from the lining of a whale's stomach.

SHE SEES SIX REIGNS

Mrs. Rachel Swain, who has just celebrated her 107th birthday in Fittwick, England, has lived in the reigns of six kings. She was born just after the death of George IV and has resided in her native village all her life. Her husband died many years ago and only three of her 10 children survive. She lives with the eldest, Mrs. M. Ashton, who is 80.

Other famous names of the entertainment world who have scored brilliant successes here and in England. But, with all their affluence, they are real, live people who eat meat and potatoes the same as we do.

So here's how for the next few days.

There's a play taking off in a little while and we've got to catch it.

Forced Into Art With No Talent; Leaves Home

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Is Herbert in school this morning? We have not seen him since last night after dinner. He went to his room to study. He has an art lesson in the evening, and when the teacher came Herbert could not be found. We have not seen him since. Is he in school?"

No Herbert was not in school. We did not see him again for six months. He had taken a long hitch-hike and freight route to the far away country where there were no art lessons, no art teachers, no art courses to bother him.

It seems Herbert had an idea that he would be a cartoonist. He made funny little pictures on scraps of paper and along the margins of his text books in his idle moments, which were many. There was no line in these sketches, no feeling that hinted at art; no indication of artistic power of any sort. Just a scribbling habit expressed in meaningless sketches.

Herbert's mother and father thought that drawing cartoons would be just fine for Herbert. They both longed to have a son who would be famous for his art work. If he were famous, never mind the art work. So they did their best to train the boy for his great position. Teachers were brought in school fees were paid far in excess of what the family budget could justify. Herbert began to feel that drawing cartoons would be a great thing to do.

It was one thing to scribble on the handy paper, but quite another to be obliged to work hard under an instructor who seemed to mean business. And especially when no amount of work resulted in anything that looked like the promise of a great cartoonist's drawing.

The teacher shook his head and talked to the parents about the boy's lack of interest, lack of application, lack of effort, lack of everything that goes to make a good art student. The parents began reproaching Herbert. "Look at the money we are spending on you. The things we have to give up to let you take art. You must get to work. Don't go out this afternoon until you have thoroughly prepared the work for Mr. Pennick."

So Herbert went on a long trip. Of course he had said he wanted to do this work. He really wanted to have the fame and the influence and the money that a great cartoonist could command. But he lacked the one thing necessary. He had no qualifications for the work. He could not draw to save his life. He had a wish, not a talent.

So many people mistake wishes for power. Most of them are spoiled children, who think that it is enough that they want something to have it presented to them. By wishing long enough they get to the place where they think their desire is the right and that somebody is doing them a grave injustice by depriving them of it. You can train any child to adopt that point of view, and when he grows up he will be a nuisance to whatever community is afflicted with his presence.

Wishful parents are quite as much at fault as the children: more so. Instead of taking a cool and impartial look at their child they refuse to see anything but their wish. They want to shine in this child and they will go ahead blindly pressing for the impossible. Before you begin training a child for some special field have a stranger, disinterested and expert, look him over. Don't bend a child's life to an idle wish.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamp, addressed envelope for reply.

Smart and Glamorous

Colorful feather fantasies give zip to this fall's chapeaux. Louise Sanders uses multicolored ostrich feathers, worked to look like quills, as a bright frontpiece for this toque of black rayon velvet. A dotted veil adds glamor.

Pictures Over The Ocean

When King George VI was crowned, many newspapers on our continent printed photographs of the event on the very same day. How could such a thing be?

Photographs also have been sent without wires—in other words by radio. It is amazing how clear cut some of these sent during the past few years have been. Artists in a newspaper office may "touch up" pictures which come in this way, but even without their work, a photograph can give a good idea of what has happened at a long distance.

If we look at a photograph printed in a newspaper from an engraving, we see many "dots." Some of the dots are heavy, others light. The hundreds of dots in an engraving give us the picture. They show the shading, some being just a little lighter or just a little darker than those nearby.

The light parts and the dark parts of pictures are picked up and sent by radio. The photograph is carried by airplane. It is possible for airplanes to cross the Atlantic very quickly these days, but no pilot could do it in time to deliver a picture within an hour or so after an event happened.

The "pictures across the ocean" were made possible by telegraph and radio systems of sending pictures.

Tests of inventions to send drawings by telegraph were made as far back as 90 years. The first tests were not successful, but Able Caselli sent drawings by telegraph in 1892.

The great success, however, has come during the present century. Photographs have been sent thou-

Opening Lead Important In Today's Bridge Hand

Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through this column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer.

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Question 18 of the National Self-Rating Bridge Examination appeared yesterday. It was:

Question 18: You are West, declarer at a three no trump contract. North's opening lead was the four of hearts. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST EAST (dummy)

♠ K 10 4 ♠ A 5 3

♥ J 5 3 ♥ Q 8 4 2

♦ A J 9 5 ♦ A Q 8 4

♣ A 3 2 ♣ K 7 6

South won the opening lead with the heart ace and returned the heart eight. How do you play the hand from that point?

Answer: You should try to win the heart return with the Jack. You have nothing to lose by this finesse. North, however, will win with the queen and return a third heart. In order to amass nine tricks, it appears that you will have to bring home dummy's diamond suit without loss of even one trick. Your best chance for this is to lead, not the Jack of diamonds, but a low diamond and finesse with the queen. If North happens to hold the king and one diamond, this method of play will work. If the diamonds break in any other way, there is no method that will produce five tricks. Many players thoughtlessly lead the Jack in this situation, not realizing they have nothing to gain by such a play. (If you led the Jack of diamonds instead of a low diamond, take a two point demerit.)

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question 19: You are West, the declarer at a contract of six spades.

Women Must Learn How to Ease Tension

BY ELSIE PIERCE

A man again. This time accusing women of taking themselves, their work, their mission in life, their children, their husbands—everything, in other words, that is related to them—much too seriously.

To quote him:

"Women are so quick to turn on the temper, the tears at the slightest provocation. It's a rare woman who doesn't have a frequent case of 'nerves.' Given a little problem like an income tax to figure, or guests for dinner and the average woman gets herself all rigid and tense, jumpy and jittery and on the verge of collapse from sheer exhaustion. The worst of it is when the problems are solved, the tax figured and the guests departed, she relieves every last little detail, she remains tense, she doesn't know how to snap out of it, let go, relax."

Too True

While I am not ready to admit that it's the rare woman who doesn't have nerves or that the average woman works herself up into near frenzy, I'm afraid it's too true that too many women fall into that category.

With just a little will and a little effort the art of relaxation can easily be mastered. I say "a little effort" advisedly. Because the minute you set about it as a task and work too hard there's tension again, and tension is just what we want to avoid. Tension causes muscles to contract, circulation to slow up and the whole process of carrying fresh blood and nourishment to the body and at the same time carrying off waste and toxic poisoning is slowed up.

That's why a case of nerves, worry, tenseness may cause more fatigue than a full, hard days work. To soothe a tense and tired body I find the following combination very effective. A warm bath, deep breathing exercise; slow, rhythmic stretching like an animal on awakening; a glass of warm milk before retiring and an alcohol rub. Then into bed and more deep breathing. Count slowly as you breathe. Try to make your mind a complete blank. Never mind reliving every detail as that mere man accuses you of doing. Visualize a black, black spot on the wall... and... aren't you sound asleep?

My bulletin "Relaxation as a Beauty Aid" may be had for a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

Old Gardener Says:

THE OLD GARDENER SAYS:

In many sections of the country, the torch lily or red-hot poker plant, listed in the catalogues both as Tritoma and Kniphofia, can be wintered along with other perennials in the over beds. They, of course, need other perennials need a light mulch of leaves, straw or evergreen boughs. However, in many of the northern states tritomas are very often killed if wintered in this way. In these states it is better to take up the plants when cold weather comes and store them in boxes of dry sand or coal ashes in the cellar. They can also be carried over satisfactorily with a light covering in a cold-frame or pit. If this method of wintering were more generally adopted, these brilliant flowers would be seen more often in northern gardens.

My Neighbor Says—

The soil in which house plants grow should be about one inch below the top of the pot to allow proper watering.

Finger marks on painted doors should be removed with a soft lanolin using out in water in which a few drops of ammonia have been mixed and then rubbed with soap. Having removed the stains, the paint should be washed with clear water and thoroughly dried.

up with the ace and led a low club. East won and, naturally reading the diamond lead and continuation as a doubleton, returned a diamond, thus giving West a ruff. Eventually, declarer had to concede a spade trick also.

The opening lead was well figured. With first round control of trumps, West foresaw that he would be able to ruff a diamond, the only question being whether East would have a quick entry. East's three club bid strongly suggested, although it did not guarantee, the holding of the ace. Even if East had no entry, however, and could not cooperate in the diamond ruffing plan, there was no reason to suppose that a spade lead would be any more favorable to the defenders. In all probability it merely would result in establishing North's spade suit more quickly. South was virtually marked with no more than two spades on his bidding.

TOMORROW'S HAND

South, dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH EAST

♠ A J 10 5 ♠ J 8 6

♥ K 7 6 ♥ Q 7 5 3 2

♦ A 3 2 ♦ K 7 6

♣ A 3 2 ♣ K 7 6

The bidding:

West North East South

1♣ 1♠ 1♥ 1♠

2♣ 2♥ 2♠ 2♠

3♣ 3♥ 3♠ 3♠

4♣ 4♥ 4♠ 4♠

5♣ 5♥ 5♠ 5♠

6♣ 6♥ 6♠ 6♠

7♣ 7♥ 7♠ 7♠

South apparently changed his mind about his hand between his first and his second bid. He chose to bid only one no trump in response to his partner's spade overcall (as a matter of fact, he had a sound pass), but later decided to show his anemic heart suit at the three level.

West's opening lead was worthy of note. It resulted in an East-West top on the board. Instead of falling for the obvious "safe" opening of the spade king, West laid down the ace and other diamond. Declarer won the second lead and immediately played a trump. West jumped

TWO APRONS FROM ONE PATTERN

Woman of 28 Wants to Have Husband and Home

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am a woman in my late 20s, and I believe I express the sentiments of the majority of my sex when I say that the reason that so many girls of my age are so anxious to marry and get the "searching look" in their eyes is not from the fear of being an old maid, but of missing the joy of loving and being loved, and the happiness of having children. I appreciate that marriage may not always be a song, but after all, it's life, and one can't blame a woman whose youth is fleeing for becoming heart sick because she feels that she is missing the essence of life itself.

Answer:

Certainly not. Of course, every woman barring the few who are born celibates, wants to marry and have her man, her children, her own home. It's a normal instinct, and in a well-ordered world there should be a good husband for every girl and babes with naturally curly hair, dressed in white muslin with blue ribbons, and a vine-wreathed cottage.

Perhaps when the president gets through settling all the other affairs of the universe, he will take this (husband-provided association) and those young women who believe that getting married is life itself will only have to present their tickets and take their choice of partners.

Unfortunately, however, that glad day has not arrived, and as things are in this cock-eyed old world there does not seem to be a sufficient supply of husbands to go around. At any rate, men seem less and less inclined to marry, whether because of the high cost of living and the realization that the income that means good clothes and golf and being invited out to cocktail parties for one, connotes shabbiness and pushing the perambulator, veal stew and no invitations, if divided up with a wife and babies, or because bachelor apartments with valet service have taken away the necessity for a wife, or whether because men who spend their days working with women are fed up with feminine society and do not wish for another helping only men themselves can say.

At any rate, it is a condition and not a theory that confronts the modern woman in marriage. Thousands of there are to be old maids, because men either can't or won't marry, and I think it is a pity that they can't learn to accept the matter philosophically and stop idealizing marriage and thinking that if they miss it they have lost out in life.

Of course, no one will deny that the woman who gets a good, kind, generous, faithful husband, who loves her and who is her heart's desire; who has children who are paragons, who has a beautiful home and plenty of money to run it on, is a darling of the gods who has been given the best things in the world. But there is just about one woman in a hundred thousand that draws this lucky number.

The great majority of women who marry find that marriage means hard work, worry and pinching economies; walking the baby at night, quarreling children and wondering where the rent money is coming from; putting up with the whims and temper of crochety husbands who take them for granted and never pay them a compliment, or even take them out to the movies. Maybe this is the "essence of life" that you pine for, but it is not without significance that one woman out of every six that try it like the flavor so little that she gets a divorce.

However, that is not the point. The point is that so many women lose all the pleasure they might get out of their free independent lives in which they have their own latch-keys and their own money and limited hours of work because they haven't husbands and because they delude themselves in the belief that however other marriages turn out, theirs would be a dream of bliss. And that's a pity.

Dear Miss Dix—We are paging Solomon and you have been elected. Here is the problem: John and Jane have been going around together for some time. Nothing serious. Just the congenial people.

INDIVIDUAL ICE CREAMS
Dainty individual molds of ice cream may be made by melting chocolate candy bars and pouring part of the melted chocolate into paper baking cups. Tilt the cups to coat the sides and bottoms and then quickly fill them with ice cream. Let the molds stay in the freezing tray of the mechanical refrigerator or in a mold buried in salt and ice for about an hour. Discard the cups before serving time.

SPICY APPETIZER
Serve a chilled mixture of spiced peaches and seedless grapes, sweetened with maple syrup or strained honey as the first course of a meal.

LIME JUICE ON MELON
Sprinkle honeydew and cantaloupe balls with lime juice. The result is a tasty combination to be served as appetizer or dessert.

Beware Coughs That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Advt.)

John must be the world's greatest kisser. It takes the lips of two girls to satisfy him at one and the same time. Also he must be a prize boob if he hasn't found out enough about girls to know that no girl wants to be kissed alternately with any other girl. She likes to think that she has the monopoly on him for the time being, and that he is putting some feeling and romance into the kiss, not turning out sort of a wholesale contract job.

I don't wonder that Jane was peeved, and perhaps a little jealous when called upon to divide John's petting. She did quite right in walking off and leaving him flat. On her part, Mary showed poor.

Catholic Churches Plan Mission Sunday Services

MISSION SUNDAY, the day on which funds are received from millions of American Catholics for the support of home and foreign missions, will be held in all churches of the diocese of Green Bay Oct. 24. This annual nation-wide appeal is under the auspices of the National Office of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, whose office for this diocese is at St. Joseph orphanage, Green Bay.

All sermons on that Sunday will be devoted to missionary topics. A mission letter from the Rev. Martin H. Vosbeck, diocesan director for Green Bay, has gone out to the clergy and laity throughout the diocese. For Catholics all over the world, Mission Sunday, which was inaugurated 10 years ago by authority of Pope Pius XI, has an unusual significance this year. It is the seventy-fifth anniversary of the death of Pauline Jaricot, the French girl who founded the international mission support organization, the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. Celebrations in her honor have been held at Rome and at Lyons, France, her birthplace.

The undeclared war in China also has drawn particular attention to foreign missions and their needs. Although no casualties have as yet been reported among Catholic missionaries, hundreds of priests, nuns and laymen are facing constant danger to their lives and possible destruction of their quarters.

Childhood Experiences Recalled at Club Meeting

BACK to their childhood went members of the Tuesday Study club yesterday as they recalled the days when they trudged more than a mile to a 1-room log schoolhouse and stood in the wood box to eat their lunch so that they wouldn't have to clean up the crumbs. Some of them even remembered the days when Indians wrapped in blankets and wearing headbands of feathers came to their homes asking for food.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. O. Thiede, 532 N. Ida street, who gave a children's party atmosphere to the afternoon by presenting sticks of candy to the members as they left.

Mrs. L. F. Bushey, who was in charge of the program, told how her family came to Wisconsin when she was still an infant and settled about three miles north of the village of Appleton. Indians were frequent callers, and when her father later bought a farm seven miles out of Appleton, he hired Indians to clear the land for him. They brought their squaws and families and built wigwams on her father's farm while they did the work. Mrs. Bushey also recalled how thrilled she was when they had a stairway built in their home after years of climbing a ladder. A Mr. Simpson, father of the Charles Simpson who now lives on E. Franklin street, built the stairway, she said.

Mrs. B. L. Peterson recalled the days when she began teaching in a country school at $20 a month, with boys as old as she and much bigger among her students. One of Mrs. E. W. King's most vivid childhood recollections, she said, is the time a boy chased her "for miles" with a snake. And Mrs. M. D. Bro said she would always remember the torch parades at the time of the McKinley-Bryan campaign.

Born on a farm in Sheboygan county where making maple sugar and syrup was the chief occupation, Mrs. R. B. Thiel told of the pleasure she had in her childhood days watching the men get sap from the trees and boiling it into sugar. Today she is never able to pass a store in which maple sugar cakes are on display without going in to buy some. She also told of Indians coming to her home demanding maple sugar. Mrs. Charles Clark said that some of her fondest childhood memories were the stories told by her grandfather, who was the first white child born in Oshkosh.

Members of the club answered roll call at the beginning of the meeting with childhood prayers, songs and poems.

OF interest here are the wedding plans of Mrs. Gretchen Jarecki Scallan of Cincinnati, formerly of Appleton, and W. David Owen of Chicago, who are to be married Saturday, Oct. 30, at Cincinnati. After a brief honeymoon they will make their home at 1448 Lake Shore drive, Chicago. Gustav Jarecki, Cincinnati, Mrs. Scallan has been a member of the Junior League of that city. She will be no stranger in Chicago when she comes to live there after Nov. 15, for she has met many of her fiancé's friends during visits in that city, and a number of Chicago women knew her at Briarcliff Manor, where she was educated. Mr. Owen is a graduate of Harvard university and a member of the University Club and Knollwood Country club in Chicago.

Dinner Opens Mooseheart Day Event

A HARVEST DINNER at 6:30, arrangements for which had been made by the alumnae committee, opened the Mooseheart day celebration observed by the Women of the Moose Wednesday evening at Moose hall. Guest of honor at the meeting was Mrs. Irene Wegner, the local group's adopted Mooseheart mother, who is visiting in Appleton this week.

The dinner began with a prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Emma Nowell. Mrs. Marie Cavert, past regent, acted as toastmistress, and Mrs. Sophia Karweick, junior regent, gave the response. After an address by Kenneth Paloski, dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, Mrs. Agnes Haferbocker, alumnae chairman, gave a gift to Mrs. Wegner, the guest of honor.

A short business session after the dinner was followed by a program put on by the Mooseheart chairman, Mrs. Mae Mueller. It included selections by the kitchen band of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Ferguson; a harmonica and piano number by Mrs. Irene Huelsbeck; a Mooseheart 9 o'clock service; a humorous reading by Mrs. Marie Cavert; presentation of a corsage to Mrs. Wegner by Mrs. Mae Mueller; and an address by Mrs. Wegner on life at Mooseheart.

She spoke especially of the work being done in the child research laboratory there, for which women of the Moose in the United States, the British Isles and Canada are responsible. The work, she said, was being copied in Europe.

Cards were played after the program, with honors going to Mrs. Irvin Tornow and Mrs. Irene Wegner at schafskopf and to Mrs. Hulda Kunitz and Mrs. Michael Wegner at rummy.

Members of the United Commercial Travelers and their friends will have a past counselors' ball Friday night at Rainbow Garden. Parties
Mrs. Charles Vander Linden, 1124 S. Jackson street, entertained three tables of bridge Wednesday night at her home in honor of Mrs. Edward G. Court. Honors were won by Mrs. Lawrence Brinkman and Mrs. Joe Obermeier, and Mrs. Arthur Dimick was awarded the traveling prize.

Christian Mothers society of St. Therese Catholic church entertained at the last of a series of six afternoon card parties Wednesday afternoon at the parish hall. Prizes for the day were won by Mrs. E. Mollen and Mrs. E. J. Rockstroh at bridge and by Mrs. M. Kronschabel and Tom Hayes at schafskopf. Grand prizes for the series were given to Mrs. Joseph Alfieri, who was high in bridge, and Mrs. J. Flynn, who was high at schafskopf.

An open card party will be sponsored at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Columbia hall by the Christian Mothers society of St. Mary Catholic church. Bridge and schafskopf will be played. Mrs. Frank Goshia and Mrs. Dora Brown will be in charge.

Mrs. George Hogriever, 345 W. Prospect avenue, entertained the Lady Eagles Schafskopf club Wednesday at her home. Prize winners were Mrs. Edward Deichen, Mrs. C. Langdyke, Little Chute, and Mrs. Edward Lehman. The group will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Edwin Kline, 913 E. Pacific street.

Mrs. Joseph Foley and Mrs. Hamilton Craig entertained a small group of friends at a supper and bridge party Wednesday night at the Columns Tea room at Neenah. Mrs. Keith Wilson, Niagara Falls, N. Y., was an out-of-town guest.

Appleton encampment of Odd Fellows will sponsor an open card party at 8 o'clock Friday night at Odd Fellows hall. Bridge, schafskopf and dice will be played. The committee in charge consists of Arthur Hamilton, Walter Nissen and Henry Breitenfeldt.

JOB AS CHRISTUS MODEL
Two Rivers, Wis.—When Artist Lester Bentley was commissioned to paint 14 canvases for St. Luke's Catholic church, he had to have a model for The Christus. He found one right in Two Rivers, which hasn't much more than 10,000 population.

The model was Joseph Krey, 29-year-old aluminum plant worker, who came complete with beard. When he broke his leg vacationing, he decided to let his whiskers grow out while he convalesced. The result was a gaunt, high-templed face framed in just such a beard that Christ is portrayed as wearing.

KNITS AT TRIAL

Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, accused poisoner of aged Jacob Wagner, carried on with her knitting at Cincinnati, as attorneys argued over admission of testimony at her trial. Her handiwork will be presented to an infant member of the family of one of her attorneys.

Mary Waterstreet To Present Sketch at Woman's Club Tonight

Mary Waterstreet, famous Wisconsin monologist and dramatist who will appear in a sketch entitled "First Ladies of the Land" at 8 o'clock tonight at the Appleton Woman's club, under the auspices of the club, does not agree with her contemporary, Cornelia Otis Skinner, that American women lack glamour. Proof of her opinion is to be seen in her presentation of the mistresses of the White House, ranging from stately Martha Washington to energetic Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt. The program provides a full evening's entertainment.

That the first ladies' lives are not all glory is never more clearly told than in the portrayal by Miss Waterstreet of the Edith Galt Wilson episode. The scene follows the World war, when Woodrow Wilson is completely inviolated. Mrs. Wilson was called on for some weighty decisions and it has been said that she was the only woman president of our country.

She is a member of the Numeral club, Mortar Board, and is treasurer of the Lawrence Women's association board. She was vice president of her sorority last year and is a Peabody councilor.

POMPONS AS COLOR NOTES

Paris—(P)—Original color ideas Lelong launches this season include fluffy silk pompons to trim evening frocks. These dangle in a variety of shades on tulle and lace skirts. Colors mix also in a red, blue, yellow and green striped belt which accents a black dress.

Dim Lights for Safety

Paris—(P)—To overcome the shortage of the finer leather used for women's foot gear and handbags, which has resulted from the throttling of imports under the four-year plan of self-sufficiency, a fishing company has been formed here to catch sharks in the West Indies and process the skins and blubber into leather and oil.

Traffic Waits While Duck Crosses to Bathe

Washington—(P)—In the last year Oscar, a mallard duck, has become one of Washington's famous characters.

He belongs to a florist with a shop on Dupont Circle across the street from a large memorial fountain.

For months Oscar waddled up and down wistfully on his side of the street, peering at the splashing fountain through the rush of traffic. Then, one day, he barged bravely into the stream of autos. Brakes screamed. Drivers turned white. Traffic came to a dead stop, but Oscar made it.

The whole thing must have seemed absurdly simple to the duck because now he holds up traffic on the Circle once a day while he steps solemnly across for a bath.

LONDON SMOKES COST MONEY

London—(P)—Smoking is an expensive habit here, American cigarettes cost 37 cents a package. Most Americans, as a result, smoke English brands but don't save much since most of those cost 25 cents for 20. And they don't give matches away—you have to buy 'em or carry a lighter. Many persons do the latter—say it's cheaper, although the matches only cost a cent a pack.

English cigarettes come in heavy cardboard packages and usually have souvenir pictures inside. Popular brands come not only in packs of 20 but of 10 and even 5 cigarettes as well.

SHARKS TO HELP NAZIS

Hamburg—(P)—To overcome the shortage of the finer leather used for women's foot gear and handbags, which has resulted from the throttling of imports under the four-year plan of self-sufficiency, a fishing company has been formed here to catch sharks in the West Indies and process the skins and blubber into leather and oil.

1937 Woman Needs Poise As First Asset

BY JOAN DURHAM

It's the woman with poise who holds the world's attention today.

Poise is to the 1937 woman what glitter was to the belle of the 90's and vitality was to the post-war flapper.

Three Characteristics

Women in these troublous days realize they must have more than glitter.

The Duchess of Windsor is only one of them.

A well-poised woman appears

always to be at ease with herself and the rest of the world.

She has at least three outward characteristics: good posture, no waste movement, controlled speech. She doesn't fidget—with her fingers, her dress, or the pearls about her neck.

She doesn't have to resort to a cigarette or a cocktail to have something to do with her hands—as her grandmother had to resort to her knitting when the conversation died down.

She has learned just what to say and when to say it—either through an innate feminine sensitiveness to people or other careful practice.

Ten Candidates

Who are the American women with the most poise?

Here's a list of ten to start on: Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Herbert Hoover,

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, Jr., the former Mrs. Grover Cleveland,

Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh,

Lena Madesin Phillips, president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, Maude Adams, Josephine Roche, assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and Colorado mine operator, Mrs. Vincent Astor.

Fishermen Say They Saw Irish "Merman"

Dublin—(P)—Ireland has opened the "sea monster" season with a tale of a "merman" with shaggy hair and bushy eyebrows and a fondness for fish.

It's the story of two fishermen, Thomas O'Toole and Michael Ward, and they yield not at all in their version of what happened.

They saw the "merman" while fishing from their curragh (canvas-covered canoe) near Fraugh-Daun Island in the mouth of Ballinakil Bay.

He came straight for the curragh, swimming with his head and shoulders out of the water. O'Toole and Ward began an attempt on the world's record for speed in a curragh. Then, they relate, curiosity won over and they waited for the merman to come along. He did and they describe him as having strawlike shaggy hair, very red lips and bushy eyebrows. His skin was fair in front and blue on the back.

When a mackerel was thrown to him the merman grabbed it eagerly and dived beneath the water to consume it. He reappeared and came up to the curragh with the apparent intention of climbing aboard, whinnied with pain when pushed away with an oar, and disappeared.

Description of the "monster" is said to tally with that of two Ren-ville fishermen who last fall asserted that they had encountered the same merman near the same place.

ZOO GIVES AWAY PETS

Fifteen thousand prizes were awarded to children by the Zoo of Moscow, Russia, during its preschool festival. They included a donkey with cart, 1,000 Australian parrots, monkeys, foxes, goats, turtles, squirrels, guinea pigs, peacocks, chicks, white mice, and fish in their own aquariums. Among the special features of the event, which attracted thousands of little ones to the zoological gardens, were lectures of animal subjects, consultations on the care of pets, and mass dances. The children were greeted by the Zoo's latest acquisitions, Mishka and Maska, eight-month-old polar bear cubs, a gift of the aviator Mazuruk, who had them sent from Rudolf Island on the ice breaker Sadko.

American Government Has Become Concerned in Foreign Rifts Since 1931

(Editor's Note: Charles Norman of the Associated Press feature service relates the dramatic story of the world peace society's success and failure in the League of Nations in a series of three articles. The first article, of America and the League, appears today.)

BY CHARLES NORMAN

The thunder of Japanese guns outside Mukden the night of Sept. 18, 1931, almost played a funeral march for the League of Nations.

To the league's failure to halt the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and its subsequent inability to prevent the carving out of the puppet state of Manchukuo many observers have ascribed the wave of "international lawlessness" that followed, particularly the conquest of Ethiopia, the Spanish civil war, and piracy in the Mediterranean.

U. S. Acted In 1931

The United States, as a signatory of the Nine-Power treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China, expressed concern in second Sino-Japanese crisis this year. In each case, the league renounced Japan's invasion, and in each case the United States concurred in the league's findings.

Since 1931, the American government has become directly concerned in four international disputes considered at Geneva—the Manchurian crisis, the Bolivia-Paraguay dispute over the Gran Chaco boundary, significant as the first major dispute on the American continent to come before the league; the boundary dispute between Peru and Colombia in which the United States worked hand in hand with the league for a settlement; and the Italo-Ethiopian war in which America invoked its neutrality act.

On Sept. 21, 1931, China appealed to the league under the Covenant and to the United States as a signatory of the Nine-Power treaty.

Stimson Backs League

On Sept. 24 Secretary of State Stimson addressed the league thus: "I assure you that the Government of the United States is in whole-hearted sympathy as expressed in the council's resolution (which called for cessation of hostilities) and will dispatch to Japan and China notes along similar lines...."

It was the first direct communication from the United States, whose non-membership had been a major factor in the life of the league from its inception. The next month, Prentiss Gilbert, American consul at Geneva, sat in on the Council's deliberations as an observer and auditor.

On Dec. 10 the league council adopted a resolution which reaffirmed the resolution calling for cessation of hostilities and evacuation of occupied territory; invited information on events in Manchuria, and appointed a commission of five to study the situation on the spot.

On Dec. 11, Secretary Stimson issued an endorsement of the league's resolution, later declared the American government's position in a strong note to both China and Japan.

Resolution Passed

Nevertheless, in February, 1931, Japanese troops bombarded Shanghai. On March 11 the league assembly passed a resolution which supported Secretary Stimson's doctrine of non-recognition and opposed settlement of the dispute under military pressure.

The Lytton report exonerated China, declared Japan the aggressor, reaffirmed the doctrine of non-recognition and made recommendations for a settlement. The report was denounced by Japan, which took steps to resign from the league.

History repeated itself on Oct. 6, 1937, when the League Assembly gave its moral support to China, condemned Japan and warned of possible international action unless the Japanese agreed to a peaceful Nine-Power settlement of her differences with China. Once more war flamed along the North China and Shanghai fronts.

And on Oct. 8 Secretary of State Cordell Hull, speaking for the United States, concurred in the league's condemnation of Japan.

In league circles hope ran high that the collaboration of the United States would present a solid front against aggressor nations.

Hollywood News And Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—Picture people spend time and money insuring authenticity of costumes for period pictures unless the "period" is the 1920's. Then they spend time and money trying to simulate authenticity without achieving it.

What was hot stuff in women's styles in 1919 is as funny now as the movies that were made then, and those movies are funnier because the stars wore the clothes that then were the last word.

When they make a picture nowadays like "Madame X," which they've modernized to the extent that its period covers the '20's they don't dare use the actual fashions. They're afraid the audience, most of which remembers the styles, will laugh and forget the drama. That is why Gladys George wears hats and gowns which are a modified form of the 1920 fashions, and why Warren William's cutaway coat is not the Thirties type then popular.

Fifteen years from now, perhaps, the fashions foregone in "Madame X" will be acceptable, definitely "dated" and therefore not so funny. But what will they do, 15 years from now, when they set a picture in the year 1937, and have to do things about the clothes women are scheduled to wear this fall—clothes, to be specific, such as Loreta Young wears in "Wife, Doctor and Nurse?"

Maybe this has happened before, but I don't recall it. Jamel Haskin, who technically advises Hollywood on Arabian settings, costumes and customs, has received a bid from Egypt to advise technically on Arabian scenes, costumes and customs for a picture to be made in Arabic....

"Every Day's a Holiday" has a Gay Nineties setting, and it may be that it will prove the turning point for Mac West. She's one actress I'd like to see typed in period—specifically the period of "She Done Him Wrong," her first and best picture.

One-Fisted Director

"Hollywood," defines Director Edward H. Griffith on the run, "is a town where many people strive to be alone—on the front page."

"But have I seen that somewhere before?"

Things they worry about: Allan Jones wondered for weeks whether his shoes really squeaked as he walked down the aisle at the MacDonald-Raymond wedding, as was reported.

Safe bet: Bob Montgomery knows more extras by name than any other actor. He's president of the Screen Actors Guild, of course.

It may be old, but I've just heard it from Jimmy Kern of the Yacht Club Boys, how Director George Marshall hurt his hand and reported for work on the "Goldwyn Follies" with the member bandaged. Seems Goldwyn came on the set, solicitously, to ask, "George, how do you feel?"

"Okay," said George, "okay." "But George," Sam wanted to know, "which hand do you direct with?"

'Bishop Trainer' Will to Displayed To Army Officers

Men Invited to See Demonstration at Sheboygan Sunday

Reserve army officers from Fox River valley cities have been invited to Sheboygan Sunday to participate in a demonstration of a device recently perfected to reproduce in miniature the firing of a battery of field artillery cannon.

Known as the "Bishop Trainer," the device will be demonstrated by Major W. H. McNaught, artillery instructor at Wisconsin Reserve headquarters in Milwaukee. He will be assisted by field artillery reserve officers.

The group will meet at 9:30 Sunday morning at the American Legion clubhouse at Sixth and Wisconsin avenues in Sheboygan and motor to a point six miles south of the city on the shore of Lake Michigan. After the demonstration, ladies of the Sheboygan chapter of Reserve Officers association will serve lunch.

The "Bishop Trainer" was invented by the late Major General Harry G. Bishop, formerly chief of field artillery of the United States army, to give simulated firing training to artillery leaders without the expenditure of costly ammunition, bearing his name, the device was invented as he lay in a hospital and is one of the best of the many miniature batteries he produced.

It consists of four small guns, resembling the four field guns usually grouped into a full-sized battery of artillery. These tiny guns fire a steel metal ball about one inch in diameter, the propelling force furnished by a 22 caliber blank cartridge. The guns can be moved up or down and are equipped with the same sight used on regular cannon. The range is up to 100 yards. With this trainer, any artillery firing problem can be economically reproduced.

Maine sells about 35,000 fishing licenses annually to persons from other states.

Transfer of Building Funds Passed by Board

A resolution providing for re-allocation of $5,000 in building funds for the new senior high school was adopted by the board of education last evening and will be forwarded to the city council for approval. The council will submit the proposal to PWA-authorities for final approval.

A $5,000 sum will be transferred from the equipment fund and distributed to other funds leaving $95,000 for the purchase of equipment. Franklin school mothers notified the board they would purchase a set of swings for Franklin school provided the school board would erect them. The offer was accepted.

Madison—That Governor LaFollette nominates Lieutenant Governor Henry Gunderson to the state tax commission, a $5,000 job, in order to get rid of him is the unanimous opinion of Capitol observers. For many months Gunderson has been letting out discreet suggestions through his friends that he would like to become a candidate for United States senator next year, despite his knowledge that these suggestions were not welcomed by the LaFollette hierarchy. Gunderson is an ambitious chap, got on the Progressive ticket last fall without asking the permission of the LaFollette, and polled enough votes to convince himself that he has a following. How Governor LaFollette persuaded him to give up his ambitions, and who is to be the LaFollette choice for the senatorship, are questions that few venture to answer.

Liquor drinking by legislators at the capitol is not particularly new. Assemblyman Francis A. Yindra, Manitowish Democrat, caused a considerable furore last week when he charged that members were drinking during house sessions. Although those charged with drinking were assemblymen, it furnished ammunition for senate oratory too, when Senator Harry B. Bens, Republican-Democratic coalition whip, cried out against "the lolling out of whisky to the members by the dictator of Wisconsin." The accusation came on the heels of a suggestion by Senator Mike Cresky, Green Bay Progressive, that the senate congratulate the assembly for the rapid progress it made on the governor's program in its tempestuous Tuesday night session.

Kresky's suggestion, put as a subtle dig at the senate during a lull in the upper house, catapulted Bens out of his seat in an angry rage. "Does that include the doling out of whisky to the members by the dictator of Wisconsin?" he belted. "If they can get such action over here" Kresky returned smilingly, let's send over and find out what they use and bring it over here." Kresky was paraphrasing President Lincoln's famous answer to critics of General Grant, who argued the Civil War Union army was drunk too much whisky. Lincoln informed criticizing friends that if he could find out what Grant drank, he would send a barrel of it to each of his other generals, at that time mainly occupied in retreating.

Rumors that Thomas Duncan, politician extraordinary, is to be appointed director of the revamped public service commission were scouted by Duncan the other day. Duncan is now executive secretary, and principal advisor of Governor LaFollette, from which position many prominent Progressives would gladly see him moved.

President Brennan was called to Oshkosh Sunday for a get-together with the District Governor E. W. Mackey of Manitowish. The conference, which was held at the Athearn hotel, included the presidents and secretaries of Lions clubs of District D in Wisconsin. "Does that include the doling out of whisky to the members by the dictator of Wisconsin?" he belted.

If they can get such action over these," Kresky returned smilingly, "let's send over and find out what brand they use and bring it over here."

Kresky was paraphrasing President Lincoln's famous answer to critics of General Grant, who charged the Civil war Union army leader drank too much whisky. Lincoln informed criticizing friends that if he could find out what brand Grant drank, he would send a barrel of it to each of his other generals, at that time mainly occupied in retreating.

Rumors that Thomas Duncan, politician extraordinary, is to be appointed director of the revamped public service commission were discounted by Duncan the other day. Duncan is now executive secretary, and principal advisor of Governor LaFollette, from which position many prominent Progressives would gladly see him moved.

Oddities from the secretary of state's office: James T. Drought, Milwaukee, best known lobbyist at the Capitol, for the thirteenth successive year will have automobile license No. 13, which should prove that he is not superstitious. Number 1938, most sought after special combination, has not yet been assigned. A Green Bay widow has requested number 1935, that being the year, she explains, that her husband was killed in a motor car accident. Another motorist wanted a small number so he would have a small license plate; this year, with a number of six digits, and a long plate, his wife frequently tore her dress on it on entering and leaving the garage.

Dammann gallantly awarded Number 1 to his wife, while Number 2 and Number 3 went to Milwaukee and Madison applicants. Senator Robert M. LaFollette will have No. 50, for Governor LaFollette, who had that number last year, didn't get his request in sufficiently early this year to get a small number.

Appropriately enough a man named Leonard Gross of Milwaukee has again been given number 144.

According to Dammann's office, an all time record high number of licenses have been issued this year, 710,900, some 22,000 more than the previous high count.

Authorization of abolition of the board of control will soon remove from high office in Wisconsin state government one of the state's best known figures, Colonel John J. Hannan, chairman of the board, one of the few remaining intimates of the elder Senator LaFollette, and a force in Wisconsin politics for 40 years.

Colonel Hannan, who for many weeks has been seriously ill, and now 71, became associated with the LaFollette movement in state politics as early as 1894, when were felt the first stirrings of a Progressive faction inside the then dominant Republican party.

After some work on the stage in New York, Hannan returned to Wisconsin to enter newspaper work, became political reporter and city editor of several Milwaukee papers, and when the Milwaukee Free Press was established as a LaFollette organ in 1901, he became the political writer for that publication. As one of his friends expresses it, "with the late Harry P. Myrick, Theodore Kronshage, John Harvey and Albert Hueglin, he became the newspaper spearhead of the Progressive or half-breed movement within the Republican party."

The Republican party in those days was bossed by Henry C. Payne, later Theodore Roosevelt's postmaster-general, and Charles F. Pfister, the Milwaukee traction magnate, and were soon to be beaten by a rising young radical who was elected governor in 1900.

For 17 years Hannan was LaFollette's private secretary, knew him better, probably, than any other man in Wisconsin outside the LaFollette family. A faithful supporter, he was an advisor, political

Council to Seek Reason for Holes In Paving Surface

Aldermen Inspect Avenue Resurfacing Job Today

Holes in the resurfacing job on E. College avenue from Drew street to Durkee street were called to the attention of aldermen last night by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., who asked for an investigation of work completed. The council adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon to investigate.

A strip of land running from Franklin street to Washington street was purchased by the council for $6,500 and will be used to extend N. Division street to Washington street. Lots 2 and 3 on the proposed street were also included in the deal.

Discussion of the avenue paving project was brought up when a $10,000 part payment on the Green and Son Construction company contract was submitted for approval. Mayor Goodland told councilmen to look at the pavement and said "it is going all to pieces and is full of holes. You can tell where the binder left off and the topping starts."

Alderman Steinhauer admitted that the block under discussion was bad but thought that further investigation was warranted. He maintained that the Green and Son company guarantees its work. "Bad spots can be remedied. This company is a local concern and is opening a plant that will employ over 25 men. We should give them a chance and help them if we can," he said.

The discussion was ended when it was decided to adjourn until tomorrow and investigate in person with the inspector, the engineer and the city attorney.

Purchase Property

Aldermen voted to buy the Lieber company property without discussion. The proposition had been before the council before when the company offered the property for $7,500. After a committee investigation, aldermen voted to offer $6,500, which was accepted last week through the company's representative, Carroll and Carroll. Alderman Knutson voted against purchase of the land.

It is proposed that the strip of land be used to extend N. Division street one block to Washington street and that the lots be used to enlarge the city fair grounds. In the agreement, it is stipulated that the company will not be assessed benefits and damages for improving the proposed street until a permanent pavement is installed at that time. Another proposed legislation for removal of railroad tracks and shed now on the property.

A recommendation to install a street light on W. Wisconsin avenue between Morrison and Durkee streets raised an argument. The matter was referred back to the committee together with recommendations that lights be installed at the intersection of N. Drew and Ellis street and at the intersection of W. Commercial street and Badger avenue.

Opposes Proposal

Alderman Steinhauer was against installing a light in the middle of the block and Alderman Brautigan thought action should be delayed until after the budget is set.

Alderman Kubitz, chairman of the street lighting committee, explained that heavy traffic on the highway together with crowds going to St. Theresa church and parading through the city at that time made a light necessary.

Alderman Vanderheyden and Keller favored the installation of a light on the grounds that there was danger of accidents without proper lighting in that block because of the heavy traffic.

Three plans for sanitary sewers were approved by councilmen and sewers will be installed on Carpenter street from Maple street to Shaw street, on Maple street from Lave street to Center street, on Goodall street from Lave street to Ruffer street, on Grant street from Mead street to Drew street, on Lave street from Grant street to Parkway boulevard and on Story street from Summer street to Wisconsin avenue.

Order New Main

Aldermen voted to order water main laid on Carpenter street from Fremont street to Harrison street and west on Harrison street 120 feet.

A petition for paving on Third street from Story street to Memorial drive was referred to the street and bridge committee for investigation.

An investigation was ordered on raising of sidewalks in the 1,600 block on W. Lawrence street and in the 47 block on Eighth street.

The city attorney was ordered by the council to investigate the status of the Lincoln school title and report back to the council. Claims submitted by Mrs. Albert Getchow and Lydia Trues were also referred to the attorney.

No action was taken on bills submitted by the Koppke Brothers construction company, Green and Sons Construction company and the Van Trum Testing laboratories. All are being considered at today's meeting.

Bills involving 1,995 accounts and totaling $21,544.50 were allowed by aldermen and the clerk instructed to draw checks for the amount.

Set Hearing for Farmer Charged With Killing Wife

Preliminary hearing for Philip Sebastian, 66-year-old owner of Hobart farm, charged with first degree murder in the slaying of his wife, has been scheduled for Friday morning at Green Bay. Sheriff Clifford Kellner said Sebastian admitted he backed his wife to death with an axe in their 1-room home Sept. 29 in a family quarrel. Kellner said Sebastian claimed self defense after his wife forced him to drink kerosene and slashed his throat with a butcher knife. Sebastian was released from a hospital yesterday and is being held at the Brown county jail.

Opposed to Delay in Water Freight Traffic

Minneapolis—(AP)—With the Mississippi nine-foot channel progressing toward completion in 1938, the upper Mississippi Waterway association last night went on record as vigorously opposing legislation that would delay development of freight traffic on the river.

The action was taken at the annual meeting of the association, at which officers and directors, headed by Charles C. Webber, Minneapolis, president, were re-elected.

Of nine resolutions adopted, one attacked proposed federal laws that would regulate rates on port-to-port barge shipments on the Mississippi. Another opposed legislation for repeal of the long and short haul clause of section 4 of the interstate commerce act.

normal expenditures. Morgan had been consulted and in some cases the chief executive had insisted he must be satisfied before the program went forward.

Wallace at a press conference yesterday again suggested processing taxes to help finance the program.

The secretary also declared: "It is essential that there be definite surplus control to protect the treasury and the farmer. Otherwise we might commit another farm board fiasco."

Wallace's Proposal

Wallace's "ever-normal granary" program, besides storing surplus crops from bumper years for use in poor seasons, would enforce either acreage or marketing controls in an effort to prevent stored supplies from becoming so large as to force down prices.

Gijon Yields to Fascist Forces yesterday said Basques and Asturians fought in the streets before the city's surrender. Belarmino Tomas, anarchist governor of Gijon, was reported to have fled to France.

A score of Spanish government trawlers tied up at Saint Jean de Luz and Bayonne, French ports, put out to sea shortly before noon with the intention of trying to rescue as many government supporters as possible from Gijon.

But as most of these vessels lacked radio equipment, Spaniards here feared they would fall into the hands of the insurgents before they learned Gijon had surrendered.

Insurgent officers announced that Gijon had been established between General Franco's troops and Gijon and the beleaguered garrison at Oviedo. This announcement was interpreted as meaning that government troops which had been besieging Oviedo since the start of the civil war 15 months ago had abandoned their efforts to capture it upon learning that Gijon had fallen.

Although the mass entry of insurgents into Gijon was not expected until tomorrow morning, officers said it was possible for the advance guard to penetrate the city tonight.

Miss Moore was wounded fatally Oct. 12 while riding in an automobile with Anselm Stopper, 20, her fiancé, and Charles Walton, 17. "Uncle Matt," the witness explained, is Matthew Cobb, 74-year-old father of Kin Hana's wife. Mrs. Hana is a second cousin of Norton.

Display Driver Testing Machine At Courthouse

Motorists Invited to Check Their Ability Behind Wheel of Car

Scientific driver testing equipment, now on a nationwide tour sponsored by the American Automobile association, was being set up today in the circuit courtroom at the courthouse where it will be shown until Saturday noon.

The equipment is being shown in the state under auspices of the Wisconsin division, AAA, and the Wisconsin State Highway Safety commission. Arrangements for the showing here were made by the Outagamie County Street and Highway Safety council.

Cheek Driving Habits

The tests enable motorists to check their driving habits as a means of learning driving faults that may jeopardize their own safety and that of others. First the motorist answers a number of questions concerning state traffic laws and signs. Tests for eyesight, distance, judgment, color-blindness and reaction to signals.

Prior to development of this equipment, drivers were without a scientific means of learning driving faults. As a result, many believed themselves to be good drivers, when their safety and that of others was threatened daily due to defective eyesight, inability to react quickly to an emergency.

The Appleton and county police departments are cooperating in putting on the tests.

McDougall was charged with drunkenness here on Aug. 14 and was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 15 days in the county detention camp. Police further checked on the man and found he was wanted for illegal entry into the United States. McDougall also was wanted by Green Bay authorities for questioning in the theft of some tools from the Y. M. C. A.

The Canadian was turned over to Green Bay authorities after he served his sentence for drunkenness. Lawrence Geisking, United States immigration service officer, said McDougall would be charged with illegal entry. He was deported once before, Geisking said.

POSTPONE CARD PARTY

Clintonville—The public card party scheduled for Friday afternoon at the Masonic temple and sponsored by the Order of Eastern Star has been postponed because of the death of James E. Long, Clintonville, past patron of the organization.

It Is Said--

That at the outset of each Lions meeting, a partial list of members is read off and at the sound of his name, each man must rise, explain the nature of his business, and issue a slogan relating to it. Such a system, street corner sages report, lends a lot of possibilities. An umpire, for example, might stand up, admit to his occupation, and then bellow "Boo."

Transients quickly become acquainted with places where they may obtain aid. Since the advent of colder weather more and more knights of the road have been calling at the clothes storeroom at the relief headquarters in the old post office building for overcoats and other winter wearing apparel.

Plan Hearings on Establishment of New State Codes

Fox River Valley Tradesmen Have Shown Sentiment in Favor of Rules

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—With the appointment of a code director and a fair trades practices commission, Wisconsin's newest code law, freshly printed, will become effective immediately, according to Governor LaFollette's office.

Hearings will be begun by E. M. Rowlands, Cambria, the new director, "very soon," Governor LaFollette's advisers said here yesterday. Rowlands spent yesterday trying to find office space in an over-crowded capitol building to house the new department which he heads.

A major change in the new law from the one which expired last summer is the provision that no code of fair competition will be prescribed for a trade or industry if approximately 50 per cent of those engaged in that industry do not desire such a code.

It is expected that the service industries, such as cleaners, dyers, shoe rebuilders and barbers will be the principal ones affected. Representatives of those industries led the clamor which resulted in the reenactment of the code law.

Fox River Valley tradesmen showed their sentiment for such a statute when they sent more than 100 delegates to the capital last month to plead for a code bill before Governor LaFollette and the legislature.

Youth Will be Asked to Re-Enact Murder of Girl

Elyria, O.—(AP)—A 19-year-old suspect in the brutal slaying of pretty Louise Hornbeck, will be taken to the murder scene on quiet Center street in nearby Grafton and asked to reenact the crime. Sheriff William F. Grall said today.

In this way, authorities said they hoped to be able to determine definitely whether the suspect, James W. Campbell, arrested in Marshall, Mich., had committed the crime.

Sheriff Grall, who returned the youth here from Michigan said Campbell had repudiated an earlier confession and then reaffirmed it.

In the meantime as irate Grafton residents discussed the murder—the first in the history of the community—authorities planned added precautions to safeguard the suspect following street corner talks of reprisals.

Union Election Asked For Telegraph Workers

Washington—(AP)—The American Radio Telegraphists association, a CIO affiliate, asked the labor relations board today to hold an election to determine whether that union should be the sole collective bargaining agent for employees of the Postal Telegraph company.

The union's petition stated the telegraph company had 17,000 employees and maintained that the union represented a majority.

The Commercial telegraphers, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, has contracts with Postal covering some employees.

War of Irish Roses Is Raging in Rhode Island

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—As the peace-makers of the nine powers converge on Brussels to strive for a happy solution of the problems of a troubled world, war is raging in awful fury. It is the war of the wild Irish roses, in which the governor, Mr. Robert Quinn, has mobilized the national guard to punish Mr. Walter O'Hara, the proprietor of the Narragansett horse park, for the crime of lese majeste.

Pegler

Mr. O'Hara, through his own newspaper, supposedly called the governor a name some time ago, and one swear word led to another until now the armed forces of the state are on active duty in the field and a pathetic mass of inoffensive non-combatant touts, trainers, swipes, monkeys, ginnies, mutuel clerks, sweepers and horse players are caught between the lines.

The great, free American press, handmaiden of our liberties, also seems to have caught her jabot in the wringer, for she is yelling bloody murder at this writing. The governor's army has ejected from the zone of combat a journalist representing Mr. O'Hara's paper and the editors of the "censorship."

In this situation, the editors of the eastern seaboard are kissing their families farewell and preparing to leave for the front, and who knows but that the war of the wild Irish roses will develop its own Webb Millers and Floyd Gibbonses, for it has all the symptoms of a terrible mess.

The problem of field equipment has been worrying some of the journalists, however, and when your correspondent wired the war correspondent of the daily walking horse at the front he was told to bring his own dice, a rabbit's foot and plenty of fresh money.

Moriarty Says There's More Than Meets The Eye

Your correspondent talked with Governor Quinn by phone and received word that that other wild Irish rose, Mr. O'Hara, had attempted to set at naught the laws of the fair state of Rhode Island and would be restrained by the full might of the unconquerable warriors of his First Rhode Island Regiment of Foot.

Mr. Eugene Moriarty, another wild Irish rose, who is manager of Mr. O'Hara's fearless journal, declared there was much more in the situation than meets the naked eye, and Mr. Mulligan, the city editor of the Pawtucket times, which is neutral in the conflict, said there was even more to the situation than meets the nose, although the nose grasps a pretty fair idea.

Mr. Mulligan, an Irish rose, if you will, is not wild yet, but neutrality undoubtedly is a great emotional strain on a Mulligan in a non-private conflict involving the Quinns, the O'Haras and the Moriartys and a Kenneally, which is the name of the journalist who was rushed out of the war zone by a detachment of Governor Quinn's invincible legions.

Governor Quinn has been contending all along that Mr. O'Hara's horse park has attracted to Rhode Island undesirable characters of extreme unscrupulous who were not above acts of dishonesty. This is indeed a grave charge, never having been heard of before in connection with horse running, which, as everyone knows, is the sport of kings, patronized by the very best people.

All Citizens Will Hope That Governor Is Wrong

It would be an astonishing thing and a great shock to the nation if it were true that Mr. O'Hara's horse park had drawn persons capable of telling falsehoods or fumbling up the odds or using an electric gimmick on man's best friend, the steed. All right-minded citizens will hope and pray that the wild Irish rose of the statehouse is mistaken in his foul aspersions.

The governor also charges that Mr. O'Hara has had an evil effect

Junior Woman's Club Hears Discussion of Menominees' History

Clintonville — James Frechette of Neopit, addressed the Junior Woman's club on "The History of the Menominee Indians" at their meeting Monday evening at the city hall. Mr. Frechette, a native of the Menominee reservation, has a college education and is now employed as a forest ranger at Kesheena. The program also included current topics by Harold Heuer, Mrs. Edwin Karczewski and Mrs. Ray Krubsack. After the program, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Miss June Spearbraker, Miss Jean Stanley, Mrs. Herbert Steffick and Mrs. Kenneth Spearbraker.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Buehrens left Monday on a motor trip to Winnipeg, Canada, where they will spend this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fosness, the latter being a sister of Mrs. Buehrens. During their absence, Mrs. John Walters, an aunt of the former, is staying with the children, Donald and Nancy Buehrens.

Mrs. John Ewer entertained her card club Tuesday afternoon at her home near this city. Three tables of five hundred were followed by a luncheon. Those who received prizes were Mrs. George Belov, first; Mrs. Henry Smith, second; and Mrs. Joseph Leyrer, travel. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Donald Russell, Ernest Perkins, George Laahs and A. L. Merrill were hostesses at a 1 o'clock luncheon Tuesday at Hotel Marston. Bridge was played at nine tables during the afternoon with honors being awarded to Mrs. W. T. Lucike, Mrs. J. D. Colton and Mrs. Richard Milbauer.

CO-STAR IN CURRENT SHOW AT ELITE

With all the entertaining points of its predecessor, and a number of new ones, Dashiell Hammett's mystery story, "After the Thin Man," opened a 3 day engagement at the Elite theater Wednesday, starring William Powell and Myrna Loy. This is the sequel to "The Thin Man" which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios produced in response to public demand.

Powell and Miss Loy excel their stellar performance in the original and the story is even more intriguing. A first rate supporting cast includes James Stewart, Elissa Landi, Joseph Calleia, Jessie Ralph and Asia, the smart little wire-haired terrier that played such a clever role in "The Thin Man."

CLINTONVILLE GRIDDERS MEET NEW LONDON FRIDAY

Clintonville High school gridgers haven't been doing so well in the win column this season but that's no reason they can't have their pictures in the paper. And so we present above three of the Trunkers who hold down line positions. They are, left to right, James Meinhardt, right guard, Orvil Marquardt, center, and Ralph Hyde, left guard. Clintonville battles New London Friday night under the lights at Clintonville. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Badgers Polish
Attack for PittWisconsin '11' in Good Condition for Panther
Homecoming Tilt

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 20.—Thirty five members of the University of Wisconsin football squad will leave here tonight to battle Pittsburgh Saturday afternoon, in the Panther's homecoming.

The Badgers will take a short workout this afternoon before en-training and another signal drill in the Steel City Friday afternoon.

Men Are Ready
Coach Harry Stuhldreher expects to have all his men in readiness. The ailing members have shown improvement, although Al Dorsch, sophomore tackle, was asked to return to the infirmary after the drill yesterday.

The Badger coach said should John Doyle be unable to start, Lynn Hovland, 220 pound Bloomer guard will replace him. The sophomore guard has been suffering from injuries to the leg and shoulder.

Break Loose
Wisconsin backs broke loose on some nice runs yesterday. Stuhldreher took a lot of time explaining defense, both on passes and running plays. Howie Weiss, veteran Ft. Atkinson fullback, gave notice that should any touchdowns be made by his team, he will convert the extra points. He scored on five of six attempts.

Those making the trip:
Ends—Benz, Riordan, Peak, Loehrke, Moeller, and Weigandt.
Tackles—Dorsch, Eckl, Strahan, Brodhagen, Soref, and Conley.
Guards—Doyle, Hovland, Davies, Cole, Johnson, and O'Brien.
Centers—Pohl, Murray and Fischel.

Quarterbacks—Gavre, Hartman, Kinney and Bellile.
Halfbacks—Schmitz, Gradsnik, Martin, Lewein, Malesevic, Bellin and Trankle.
Fullbacks—Weiss, Paul and Cibik.

Yale, Cornell to Meet in Grid TiltDartmouth Tangles With Harvard in Other
Eastern Classic

BY BILL BONI
New York.—Football firing in the Ivy league, stronghold of eastern football tradition, so far has been sporadic, if that. But the Ivy leaguers will climb all over each other this Saturday, when Cornell invades the bowl to face Yale's opportunists and Dartmouth and Harvard meet for the forty-fourth time at Soldier field.

Judging from early returns, the "champion" of this informal conference appears bound to be one of this quartet. Columbia, despite brilliant spearhead, Sid Luckman, seems lacking in reserve strength to carry through the season; Princeton, despite an encouraging victory over Chicago last Saturday, still is green, and Pennsylvania already has lost two of the three games booked for this season with its co-members.

Harvard is Powerful
Of the top-ranking foursome, Yale and Cornell already have established themselves in the foreground of the eastern picture. Harvard, too, in its scorching tie with Navy, proved a power to be reckoned with. Only Dartmouth has not asserted itself, and the loud wahoo-wah's ringing down from the New Hampshire hills at least hint at confidence in the Indians' camp as they, like Harvard, open their "Ivy league" schedule this week-end.

Besides Dartmouth, out to make it four straight over the Crimson, and Harvard, and Yale and Cornell, the other three Ivy leaguers also will see action, if less intense, on Saturday. Princeton shouldn't have much trouble spoiling Rutgers' unbeaten-untied-unscored-on record; Columbia, after two stiff ones will be able to ease off against Brown, and Pennsylvania will battle Georgetown, still groggy from that Lafayette upset.

SMASHING the pins for a 652 series on games of 199, 216 and 227, R. Eggert paced keggers in the Eagles Bowling league last night at the Eagles alleys. C. Anderson cracked out a 246 game for top game. Asbauer Taverns paced the teams with a 1,021 game and 2,884 total.

The Adler Braus lost two games to the Mellow Brews to drop into a first place tie with the O. K. Taxis squad, which won two games. A. Knaus shot a 213 game and 536 series to pace the Braus while T. Lausen smashed the wood for a 638 series on games of 201, 201 and 236.

The O. K. Taxis rapped out its 2-game victory over the Miller High Life team. A 205 game and 576 series rolled by W. Koester was tops for the winners while Anderson's 246 game and 599 series was high for the Miller team.

Packers High Scorers
In Pro Football League

THE Green Bay Packers and New York Giants are well on the way to new offensive and defensive records of the National Football league, according to statistics released today. The Packers, in addition to leading the scorers with 104 points, have gained 1439 yards in 5 games for an average of 287 per game, which exceeds the record 288 average set by the Chicago Bears in 1934.

Opponents have been able to gain only 504 yards in 4 games against the Packers, an average of 126 yards a game. This is 17 yards a game less than the record defensive average of 143 yards set by the Bears in 1934.

Record of 44 Wins
In 6 Years Based Upon Mathematics

Baltimore.—(U)—A mathematics professor turned coach, who works out "plays like equations," has brought Morgan college for Negroes through six years of football—44 games—without a defeat.

"It's all a matter of timing," Coach Edward P. Hurt said. "In science you won't be satisfied with anything less than exactness. You need the same exactness in coaching a football team."

He doesn't talk about his plays, but he was ready with his pencil to draw diagrams of them. He hasn't any favorites—he says he likes anything which will gain ground.

Like the "Round Robin" he used against Bluefield State teachers in 1935. The fullback threw a forward pass, a halfback scooped it in and lateraled it to another half.

The second man lateraled again to the fullback, who had come wide around end. Then the fullback made a touchdown. Things like that, Hurt said, account for six-year totals like: Morgan, 983 points; all opponents, 62.

Hurt likes an open game, emphasizing speed and teamwork. He played end for Howard university in Washington before he came to Morgan as mathematics professor.

"You see," he added, "football is just applied mathematics."

4 Boys Reach Quarters
In Badminton Tourney

Four boys have reached the quarter-finals of the Wilson Junior high school intramural badminton tournament. They are J. Loeper, J. Merkes, H. Farrand and C. Danielson.

Loeper won over R. Schumacker and O. Klitzke to go into the quarter-finals. Merkes defeated L. Hauser and J. Oswalt; Farrand downed K. Schwalbach and J. Miller; and Danielson defeated W. Bergmann and A. Nyomen.

Leaders in the horse shoe tournament being conducted at the school are B. Kohl, R. Meertz and F. Acheson. Each boy has won two matches. Ping pong tournament leaders are H. Hesse and C. Danielson.

A speedball meet being held at the school will end Oct. 27 and dodgeball and tug-of-war contest will begin Nov. 1 for ninth grade boys. Kickball meets for the eighth grades will end Oct. 27 and dodgeball will begin Nov. 1.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

I JUST wonder—
If with a little extra prodding and some reverse in the general attitude of the last couple weeks, if Lawrence college football squad can't give Carroll college a heluva battle next Saturday down there at Waukesha.

Reports are that the Viking students are planning a special train or at least a couple coaches to Waukesha Saturday and that ought to have created a little excitement and anticipation. Long years ago Lawrence annually invaded Ripon and Carroll in special trains and no fooling, those trains and their enthusiastic followers had an awful lot to do with some of the ball games that the old grads like to tell about.

After all, it isn't necessarily a case of a win but a swell battle with the score down where it isn't expected to be—or one of those upsets you read about on Sunday mornings.

It may be Carroll's homecoming and all that but it's a swell situation for an upset. The Vikes so far have done only fair. Carroll is going to be confident it can take the homecoming game in stride and yet it hasn't a team that has been pouring touchdowns across the line this season. Art Buck isn't among the country's high scorers and there are several key men injured.

I know that a lot of the footballers are getting hot up about bouncing this Carroll outfit. They're hungry for a victory and they don't play this game just for the fun of it; they play to win. Get a couple of them into the open early in the contest before the Pioneer gets settled and then spend the rest of the afternoon protecting that edge. In other words charge like the devil for 60 minutes instead of letting up in the fourth period and figuring you can coast.

In recent years Lawrence basketball teams haven't had a heck of a lot more material than's out there on the gridiron today. But they've beaten Carroll on occasion at Alexander gymnasium and they've given the Pioneer a great run for their money down at Waukesha.

I can't help but remember the charge I've often heard to certain Vike teams in recent years as they prepared to turn in some of their best exhibitions. It was a plausibly spoken, confident, positive remark that went something like this:

"Listen you guys, we're going to beat those babies so go out there and play like hell!"

So I wonder—
From away out at Pascoag, Rhode Island, came a letter yesterday from John J. Rooney, formerly of Appleton. And here it is because it'll interest you:

"I saw an old friend of yours and mine in action yesterday against the New York Giants Pro football club. 'Em Mortell is the name and yesterday he did a wonderful job as field general in leading the Philadelphia Eagles."

The Eagles were completely outclassed by the Giants due to the Philie's weak line. Leeman, Cuff and Soar of the Giants led their team to a 21-0 victory.

"Philadelphia has only three first class men on the squad namely Hewitt, Smukler and Mortell. In yesterday's game it was Mortell who crossed the line, made long runs, passed and punted only to lose the support of his teammates."

"You can count on seeing a great player in action when Philadelphia Eagles play the Packers. I really believe Em should wear a Packer uniform next year because he's too fast for the Philly team..."

The Photos took team honors in last night's bowling, hitting a 912 game and totaling 2,670 for the match, and tied with Huesemann Insurance for league leadership.

Big Ten Tilt

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Chicago.—(U)—Michigan and Iowa can hardly wait for their football engagement Saturday for it looks like a swell spot for either to break into the Big Ten victory circle.

The Hawkeyes may be even more eager than the Wolverines, for what with the rest of their schedule, they probably won't have as good a chance of winning a conference victory again this season. After the Michigan game, Iowa must meet Purdue, Minnesota and Indiana, all regarded as too powerful for Iri Tubbs' first Hawkeye team.

Michigan, still slightly shell-shocked from what the mighty men of Minnesota did last week at Ann Arbor, also faces a rough road, although the rest of its schedule has its advantages over Iowa's. The Wolverines meet Illinois and Ohio State, both of which figure over Michigan, but they still get a crack at Chicago's brave little band.

Best Drill of Season
The Wolverines finished work for the game yesterday with what Coach Harry Kipke called the best practice of the season. The Hawkeyes, however, encountered embarrassment when the freshmen, using Michigan plays, repeatedly broke away for gains.

Both Ohio State and Northwestern, which met in the most important game of the Big Ten day, concentrated on offensive maneuvers. The Buckeyes polished their full repertoire, while Northwestern was given another dose of offensive blocking in an effort to bolster the running attack.

Badgers Display Spirit
Wisconsin's Badgers looked like anything but a team heading for trouble as they whipped through a long offensive and defensive drill, their last before meeting Pittsburgh Saturday. After watching his boys give an exceptional display of power and spirit, Coach Harry Stuhldreher selected 35 of them to leave for Pittsburgh today.

With his regular guards, Jim Sirtosky and Joe Szabo out of the Cincinnati game this week because of injuries, Coach Bo McMillin devoted most of his attention to drilling reserves. Tony Campagnoli and James Ellenwood alternated in the left guard spot, while James Logan was used at right guard.

Repair work was the order of the day at Minnesota, Illinois, Purdue and Chicago which have no engagements this week. Bernie Bierman continued to experiment with Minnesota's backfield, Clark Shaughnessy did the same at Chicago, while Mal Edward sought to strengthen Purdue's line reserves. At Illinois, Bob Zupke proceeded with his plans for adding variety and power to his offense.

APPLETON High school gridgers got a taste of Green Bay East last evening at the team made believe it was the Red Devils and the other team, the Red Devils, was the other squad. It was the only scrimmage session of the week and wasn't much more than a dummy session for the Terror backs who made believe they were Red Devils hardly had the polish of the Bay youths.

Coaches Wallace Cole and Myron Seims took considerable time to point out to their charges the features of the Green Bay attack and the best way to meet the plays. There were numerous sweeps, spinners, off tackle slashes, short passes over the line of scrimmage and quick opening plays.

over the line of scrimmage and quick opening plays. The defensive team during the evening showed Bergner and Buesing at the ends with Harnsen and Kramer at the tackles. Arndt and Kenny at the guards and Hebel and center. Kenny still has a damaged finger, however. In the backfield Sample was at full, Oliver at quarter and Filz and DeLeest at the halves. DeLeest's appearance there intimidated he may see some action Saturday. He's a clever ball carrier but unfamiliar with defensive tactics.

Scoring statistics for the Valley conference show Chuck Sample, Appleton fullback, still leading although he counted only once last week in Appleton's rout of Fond du Lac. Sample has counted six touchdowns for 36 points and is followed by Olson, East, who has counted 33 points.

Laverne Bergner, Appleton end, has joined the first four by virtue of his kicks from placement and a touchdown last week plus a damaged finger, however. In the backfield Sample was at full, Oliver at quarter and Filz and DeLeest at the halves. DeLeest's appearance there intimidated he may see some action Saturday. He's a clever ball carrier but unfamiliar with defensive tactics.

St. John Will Tangle With Undeclared Team

Little Chute — St. John High school gridder will engage undeclared Edgewood High school of Madison in a homecoming tilt Sunday afternoon in municipal park here.

Festivities will begin with a parade of students and floats at 7 o'clock Friday evening and a bonfire at the park. Pep talks, school songs and cheers will feature the rally. A parade will form previous to the game Sunday afternoon and will march to the field.

A homecoming dance for alumni, friends and students is scheduled for Sunday evening. The committee in charge of the parade has announced a cash prize for the best float in the parade Friday evening.

Going Hunting? Try to Remember These Rules

- Washington — The Red Cross is always closer to you than any game.
1. Never point a weapon at anyone in fun. There is too little difference between comedy and tragedy.
 2. Don't deploy ahead of inexperienced hunters. Be polite and let them go first.
 3. Don't leave a gun where children can reach it. All weapons are dangerous to them.
 4. Don't leave a loaded gun in the house. Bears are not coming through the living room this year.
 5. Don't allow the gun muzzle to clog with mud or snow. Clean it as you would your teeth. The bite is 1,000 times worse.
 6. Deer hunters should wear red coats or hats because — deer don't.

U. W. FOOTBALL BOARD OF STRATEGY

POINTER OR SETTER

Ozark Ripley

THOUGH pointers lead in field trial winnings, the popularity of the setter as a shooting dog has subsided very little. In fact among owners of shooting and field trial dogs of the present day we find in their kennels both pointers and setters which are used for actual work afield.

Years ago the setters easily led in popularity both for field trial and shooting purposes. The pointer had not come into its own simply for the reason that the early importations had too much bench show blood in them. They were usually large, square muzzled, fine tailed dogs with the conformation which in these days pleased the bench show judges. A change came when the lovers of the short haired dogs began competing in field trials. Quickly they discovered the reason pointers fell short of setters achievement on birds. This was remedied by breeding real bird dogs from a racy type instead of from a lumbering type, as they formerly did.

The instant pointers began to win against setters in field trials a demand for them as shooting dogs resulted. Even in the east, where the sportsmen were slowest to recognize merits of pointers, more of the short haired fellows are seen at field trials and in the hunting areas nowadays than setters.

Of course the English setter in every way outclasses the Irish setter, so in the comparison of setters and pointers the writer refers only to the English and the English strain of English setters. The setter has great scenting ability, brains and beauty. The pointer has the same things. The setter draws friends to it through its coat, which is supposed to be briar resisting as well as protection against cold. A setter is comfortable lying down in a cold place often when a pointer will shiver continually. The average setter shows greater natural love for water than a pointer. Some of the best retrievers in cold water I have seen were pointers, but you have to keep them moving after such exposure. A pointer will go through briars and burrs if it has the proper guts in its system, and if it has not it won't. The same with a setter.

Pointers will work decidedly better in cockle burrs than setters, for these pests certainly annoy and chafe the long haired individuals. Also the average pointer will stand hot weather better and go longer without water than a setter.

The novice ought never think of another breed when he buys a pointer or setter for shooting purposes. Have faith in the breed he possesses and ten to one the dog will make good. One thing can be said in favor of most pointers and that is that they develop their pointing instinct at an earlier age usually than setters. But this does not happen in every case, because there are many slow developers, too, among the short haired fraternity. No one should doubt the ability of either breed. If they do they will not put their whole soul into developing it for grouse, woodcock, quail, pheasant or chicken hunting.

A fighting heart decides the matter of size. The forty pound dog

Lou Gehrig Breaks Two of Ruth's Records; Ties One

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK — Lou Gehrig's announced campaign to eclipse some of the marks Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb set up for the record books didn't get far during the 1937 season, but it was a big year for the "iron horse," nevertheless.

The Yankees' iron man first baseman revealed his ambition after the 1936 campaign. Through the recent season he succeeded only in wiping out two of the Bambino's all-time highs, and tying another. But he was still the year's leading record-buster, accounting for six of the ten big league marks that were bettered, and one of the ten that were equalled.

Batters' 3 Records

All told, three of Ruth's records went by the boards. Gehrig passed the Babe's mark for the player driving in 150 or more runs for the most years, turning the trick for the seventh time in his career, and for the better hitting for a total of 300 or more bases for the most years, collecting that total for the twelfth time to end a tie with the Babe.

The other Ruthian swat standard to go was shattered by the Tigers' rookie wallop, roundhouse Rudy York, when he clouted 18 homers during August, one more than the previous one-month top which Ruth set up during the September of his record-smashing season back in 1927.

By scoring 100 or more runs for the twelfth year in his career, Gehrig deadlocked Ruth at the head of the record books. In addition, Larruping Lou stretched his consecutive-game playing record to 1,965 games.

Beat Reds 21 Games

The most unusual mark of all for the books this season was that the Pittsburgh Pirates produced in whipping the Cincinnati Reds 21 times in 22 starts during the season, tying the all-time high for the most victories scored by one club over another in one year.

Paul Waner of the Pirates, set a National league record with 200 or more hits for the eighth year.

Excluding the marks posted during the World series, here are the changes to be made in the books:

Major league marks broken:
Most consecutive games played during career, 1,965, by Lou Gehrig.
Most years playing 150 or more games, 11, by Gehrig.
Most consecutive years 100 or more runs scored, 12, by Gehrig.
Most years 150 or more runs batted in, 7, by Gehrig.
Most consecutive years, 100 or more runs batted in, 12, by Gehrig.
Most home runs with bases loaded during career, 20, by Gehrig.
Most home runs, one month, 18, by Rudy York, Detroit.
Most years as manager, 40, by Connie Mack, Athletics.
Largest attendance, single game, 68,939, White Sox at Yankees, June 20.

Even in field trials the small or medium size dogs show more winning than the huge dogs. Some setters and pointers which weighed scarcely thirty pounds have won regularly over dogs from fifty to sixty-five pounds. Such miniature specimens of pointers as Baby Ale and the tiny setter, Peach Blossom, are outstanding examples of this. I knew of a very small daughter of Prince Lyndon that not only hunted from morning until night without showing fatigue, but she so loved to run behind a pack of fox hound that I have seen her follow them when on a chase an entire night after a day's hunt, and seemingly as fresh as when she started on the following morning.

Numerous other instances of the stamina of small dogs are on record. But whether a dog is large and powerful or small and wiry and with the natural makeup to stand all sorts of going he must have a fighting heart to undergo the worst exigencies of field trial or shooting dog work. No matter the physique, unless he has the fighting heart he will never stand the strain.

COMMON SENSE CONSERVATION

By L.H. KINISTON

The melancholy days are here. The saddest of the year. Of wailing winds and naked woods. And meadows brown and sear.

GREEN BAY — Those lines of the great poet probably best portray the feeling that autumn brings to the average resident of this north temperate region of which the Badger State is a part. Many people do not like the fall season because of the depressing effect that it has upon the human consciousness, but I hasten to add that this dislike is by no means universal.

There is at least one class of people who consider autumn the very best time of the whole year. You have already guessed, no doubt, that I refer to all of us who love to go out hunting.

Oh, we feel the autumn melancholy, but it is tempered with the excitement and joy of the hunt, and the result is something that cannot be put down in words.

Yes, we hear the wailing winds, but listen—was that a twig that snapped? There it is, a deer! Now if it only has horns.

We see the naked woods across the cold, grey, water of the lake, but wait—what is that dark spot that floats swiftly over the tree tops. Sure enough it is a flock of ducks coming in! Get ready, we're going to get some shooting.

We are tramping the meadows brown and sear when we come to a swale where the weeds are knee high. The spaniel suddenly stops mid-gallon and goes back a few steps; then off he goes at an angle, his tail awiggle, and we hustle to keep within range. Suddenly the weeds burst open and a big bronze rooster takes to the air.

Yes, the melancholy days are here, but they are the best days of the year!

Fans Applaud as Wrestlers Stage "Regular" Bout

Meyers Beats Olsen in Windup of Menasha Grunting Card

BY RANDY HAESE
MENASHA — In one of the fastest demonstrations of straight wrestling ever performed at the armory, Grandpop Meyers scored one fall over Milton Olsen of Racine within the hour time limit of the semifinal bout on the card sponsored by the Twin Cities Union club last night. Rowdy Pocan and Chief White Cloud drew with one fall each in the final while Chief Thunderbolt, another Indian importation from Black Hills, S. Dak., and George Bennett drew in the opener.

The crowd demonstrated its approval of scientific wrestling with generous applause at the conclusion of the Meyers-Olsen bout. Both men were fast and neither resorted to a single foul tactic. It was a case of experience winning over youth and strength. Meyers took the first fall after 40 minutes of strenuous battling with a cross-over leg scissors that forced Olsen to give up.

Headlocks, toe holds, flying mares, arm scissors and leg splits changed the advantage in rapid succession after the rest period but neither grappler scored a fall in the time remaining in the hour.

The importation of Rowdy Pocan as a "white hope" to challenge the unpopular Chief White Cloud failed when both had to be content with a draw. Although there was more of the hippodrome, the bout did not have the appeal of the semifinal and was rather slow. The Indian was not as free as usual with his rough tactics.

Pocan Takes First Fall
Pocan furnished most of the action in the first fall by chasing the Indian out of the ring and by using a rocking chair hold which thumped the Indian hard against the canvas. He scored the fall with a series of cart wheels that started from an arm scissors.

The second fall went to the redskin after 10 minutes with a hammerlock and a few blows tossed in for good measure. The final 10 minutes found Pocan stepping into the hammerlock repeatedly but no fall was scored.

Referee John Felix of Chicago, a former wrestler himself, entered into the spirit of things in the opener. He did a bit of gouging, hair pulling and biting to force Chief Thunderbolt to give up holds gained through foul means. The redskin was far from noble in his tactics while Bennett went through all the motions of agony. The bout ended without a fall by either man within the 30 minute time limit.

Vike Harriers Without Race for This Weekend

Lawrence college cross country team, which had hoped to run with Ripon this weekend, will have to play by itself because the Crimson harriers aren't inclined to meet anyone in team competition. At any rate that was the substance of a letter received by Coach Arthur C. Denney from Coach Carl Doehling of Ripon yesterday.

The Vike harriers now will prepare for the Midwest conference run which is scheduled at Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 30. Lawrence will enter a team composed of Frank Schubert, the conference champion, John Fulton and Wallie Cape. The latter is the only new man in the group.

The quarterbacking of the team against Cleveland Sunday was about the best of the season, particularly in two of the sustained touchdown drives, when the Rams didn't have a chance to figure out what was coming next. The play of the line was up to its usual high standard, with Tackle Averell Daniell, former Pitt all-American, the stand-out.

The Rams will arrive on the Milwaukee Road train at 10:15 Saturday evening and will make their headquarters at the Hotel Northland.

The Green Bay players well realize the importance of winning Sunday's contest for a victory will place them for the first time this season in a position to strike for first place in the Western division. Regardless of whether the Chicago Bears or Detroit Lions win at Wrigley field Sunday, the outcome of that crucial game will affect the Packers' standings favorably, provided Cleveland doesn't effect an upset of its own.

Brietz Says Pitt Will Beat Wisconsin Squad

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — That Tony Lazzeri-Chicago Cub situation has everyone around here puzzled. . . . What will come off? . . . Are you asking us? Well, we're asking you. . . . Just suppose Tony signs up as coach (on condition he'll manage the club in 1939). . . . That would be a fine mess of fish couldn't it? . . . There would be Grimm directing the Bruins from the bench, with the next year's manager whooping it up on one of the coaching lines. . . . Can either of 'em stand it? . . . Tony's pals around B'way and 45th don't believe he'll go for such a bargain — If that's what's in the Chicago minds.

Well, gents, may as well give you Saturday's winners today as tomorrow. Here they are: Detroit over Boston college; California over Southern California. . . . Duke over Colgate. Texas Christian over Fordham. . . . Georgia Tech over Auburn. . . . Dartmouth over Harvard. . . . Syracuse over Maryland. . . . Alabama over George Washington. . . . Michigan State over Marquette. . . . Notre Dame over Navy (with a fudge crossed). . . . Ohio State over Northwestern. . . . Rice over Texas. Louisiana State over Vanderbilt. . . . Villanova over Bucknell. . . . Pitt over Wisconsin. . . . Cornell over Yale. . . . Texas Aggies over Baylor. . . . Washington over Stanford.

Fordham is all set for an air attack when Texas Christian blows into the Polo Grounds Saturday. . . . Tony Tunney, who made some pithy comments on the John Montague case, was socked plumb in the solar plexus by Judge Brewster, who referred to Gene as "a former heavyweight champion and alleged Shakespearean scholar." . . . Omigosh!

Well, who's going to the Rose Bowl? . . . Right now we'd say Alabama and California. . . . Both Henry Armstrong and Petey Sarron are worrying about making 128 pounds for their featherweight title clash in the Garden. . . . Big league club owners are ready to take their managers' tips and vote for a 25-man player limit at the winter meetings. . . . Present limit is 23 and are the pilots howling?

Snatched from New York columns: Mirror: Yale team snafu in years. . . . Blue actually has more than seven plays. . . . End named Miller may make 'em forget all about Larry Kelley. . . . (Aw, yeah?). . . . Sun: More than passing strange that in a game called football there should be so little foot. . . . Survey shows only 54 per cent efficiency in conversions in 42 games. . . . Journal-American: Babe Ruth definitely is a candidate for manager of the Boston Bees. . . . (And more power to him). . . . News: Pic Traylor in town doing the spots. . . . Negotiating for a power hitter, but Hank Leiber is out. . . . Post: Bob Pastor can pocket $15,000 if he wants to fight Maxie Rosenbloom in Los Angeles Thanksgiving day.

Lambeau Worries About Packers Getting Too Confident of Victory

GREEN BAY — Seeking to keep the threat of over-confidence under cover, Coach E. L. Lambeau ordered one of the heaviest practice sessions of the season for the Green Bay Packers tomorrow, as they prepared to meet the Cleveland Rams in a return engagement at City stadium Sunday afternoon.

Lambeau fears that his team, which ran up a 35 to 10 score at Cleveland last Sunday, may figure the Rams a pushover.

"Exactly opposite is the case," he explained. "The Cleveland team simply hasn't started clicking yet, and it is due to come up with a hot game any time now. I just hope they don't do it against us."

Rams Fighters
"The Rams never stopped fighting against the Packers Sunday. Twice they fought back and scored, and we did not have the game sewed up until 10 minutes from the final gun. There are plenty of important names on the Cleveland roster, and if the players start clicking as a unit, they'll upset someone, for certain."

Instead of working out in the rain yesterday afternoon, the Packers conducted a skull drill of an hour and a half indoors. They were back on the practice field this morning, loosening up and indulging in a lot of running, including the weekly touch football game.

Work tomorrow will be very heavy, Lambeau indicated. The squad will absorb some new running plays to use against the Rams. Despite their powerful offensive exhibition, the Packers looked ragged in some spots at Cleveland, and these rough edges will require work before Sunday.

Call Signals Right
The quarterbacking of the team against Cleveland Sunday was about the best of the season, particularly in two of the sustained touchdown drives, when the Rams didn't have a chance to figure out what was coming next. Farmers Oppose Order Against Free Milk Cans

Sign Petitions to be Submitted to State Department, Rogers Reports

New London—Farmers of the New London area are practically 100 per cent opposed to the recent state order prohibiting milk plants from furnishing milk cans for patrons or paying any part of the hauling costs, it was reported this week by Curt F. Rogers, president of the local Pure Milk Products cooperative, as signed petitions protesting the order are being received from farmers.

Petitions voicing the protest have been circulated state-wide through the initiative of the Pure Milk Products cooperative, according to Rogers. The petitions will be submitted to the state department of agriculture and markets with a request for modification of or repeal of the order, he said.

A general order issued by the department recently specified Jan. 1, 1938, as the deadline for withdrawal of all free cans now in use and prohibits purchasers and receivers of milk from furnishing free cans after Sept. 30, 1937. The farmers complain that for several years they have worked out a program with the buyers which yields the largest net return to them as producers.

The common practice has been to furnish an extra set of cans to patrons whose cans can not be returned by the hauler the same day the milk is collected. Patrons of the Borden plant here have been paying 10 cents per hundred of the hauling costs while the company has paid any additional amount incurred in getting the milk to the plant.

At a series of hearings throughout the state prior to the order, farmers generally contended that they paid for the cans and hauling costs indirectly anyway.

DAIRYMAN DISPLAYS HIGH PRODUCERS IN CRACK HERD

New London—Herman C. Stichman, route 2, New London, is shown above with two of his record breaking registered Holsteins from his dairy herd which is leading all others in milk production in Waupaca county during 1937. To the left is the old cow which is largely responsible for the herd's good showing. Still going strong at the age of 13 she has just completed a 3-year period with an average record of 13,780 pounds of milk and 560 pounds of butter fat in 305 days, giving 4 per cent milk. Her three daughters at milking age averaged 532 pounds of butter fat in 305 days producing 12,371 pounds of milk and 520 pounds of butter fat with an average test of 4.23 per cent. With 10 cows Stichman herd averages production of 459 pounds of fat in 305 days milked twice daily. Stichman has been a producer of registered Holsteins for 25 years and has Ormsby breeding, sired by the grandson of the Commodore Ormsby Fobes. In the past year he has realized a net profit, above feed cost, of $125.11 per cow selling his milk to a condenser. (Post-Crescent Photo)

First Grade Pupils are Working on Home Project

New London—Project work is occupying the kindergarten and first four grades at Lincoln school.

Under the discussion method of teaching inaugurated in the first grade this year the entire year's work is carried out through projects. At present the children are working on a home project. They have studied the building and its materials, the family and the rooms common to a home.

A frame structure in the classroom provides the pupils with a 1-room home which they are furnishing successively into different rooms. They started with the bedroom this week and elaborated on the project by bringing to a class their dolls and mothers' old "long dresses" which they play with at home.

The kindergarten is engrossed in a travel project and has completed a train of boxes on the classroom floor. The train consists of the locomotive, tender and one coach. The children plan to build small wooden boats and make paper airplanes also.

The third grade is studying the history of the Indians and is constructing a Pueblo Indian home. Paper is used to represent sun-dried brick. The class will make clay dishes and are preparing a sand table to erect a miniature Indian village. As the project near completion the pupils will make Indian suits and after Thanksgiving will present a short play.

An Eskimo project has just been completed by the fourth grade and work is underway on the study of the Sahara desert. During the study the pupils dress dolls in native costumes, write appropriate songs and poems and draw pictures of the different phases of the study.

Each pupil in the second grade has constructed a small barn about a foot high in connection with a farm study project. The colorful paper barns represent all styles and types and are on display in the classroom.

Waupaca Council Adopts Budget

$66,580 Levied for City And School Purposes For 1938

Waupaca — The sum of $66,580 was levied against the taxable property of the city for city and school purposes for the year 1938 when the common council met Tuesday evening and adopted the budget which was presented at the regular meeting two weeks ago. Figures submitted by the finance committee for estimates of receipts and disbursements for the ensuing year totaled $23,630, that of the board of public works, $9,950; while the board of education submitted a budget of $33,000. With the general city budget nearly $12,000 less than a year ago the school budget is $5,000 more.

This reduction of 26 per cent for the taxpayer comes from economies in general operation of city services, chief items of which include $800 in unemployment compensation where 1937 had to carry the load of previous years; $3,000 in old age pensions allotted in 1937 and not used to date; $1,500 in street maintenance; $1,200 in street cleaning; $2,000 in new street machinery and city truck; $1,250 in machinery and truck maintenance. These truck items savings are charged back in each case to department by which they are used.

From the general budget is subtracted receipts from utility taxes, income taxes and other state sources and other state sources leaving amount to be raised of $34,580 as compared to $45,680 for the current year.

Mayor F. R. Fisher "hopes that the county tax will also be reduced this year but so far there is not much encouragement."

Mrs. Marjorie Evans of Kingston Hill, England, has collected 35,000 matchbook labels in 10 years, the oldest being from a box of friction matches made by John Walker, a chemist, in 1830 and used by William IV.

of Mrs. Arthur Gokey. Next week the club will meet at the home of Mrs. T. Lennel.

The independent union mass meeting which was scheduled for Wednesday evening is postponed and will be held Friday evening at the village hall.

Waupaca Group Makes Inspection of Schools

Waupaca—Superintendent Lester M. Emans, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Hart, member of the board of education, and the Misses Pearl Chamberlain, Dorothy Rohloff and Lenore Mjelde, members of the faculty of the elementary grades, spent Wednesday in Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh, investigating fixtures, equipment and buildings in general, in anticipation of the new elementary school unit which will be begun shortly in this city.

While the preliminary plans have been drawn up by the architects Oppenheimer and Obel, Wausau, there may be certain small changes made subject to the approval of the architects and it was with this in mind that the group inspected other school buildings.

During the absence of the regular teachers Mrs. Walter Nelson substituted in the kindergarten for Miss Rohloff; Mrs. Edwin Knudsen in the first grade for Miss Chamberlain and Mrs. E. Taber for Miss Mjelde in the third grade.

Bishop Pleads for Renewal of Vows In Waupaca Speech

Tells District Conference There Is 'Something Wrong in Church'

Waupaca — Urging members of the church to "renew their vows" or the "old church will lose its place in the sun," Bishop Ralph Magee of St. Paul addressed delegates of the Appleton District Conference which convened in Waupaca all day Wednesday.

Telling leaders of the church that there is "something wrong in the church, that the church is not making the progress she should, and the Sunday school has been going down for 20 years," he asked that Methodists seek God's will and leadership in their lives.

"God's will is the proper development of one's natural powers. Everyone has in embryo every talent that everyone else has, but not natural and not necessarily easy to develop," he said. As an illustration, Bishop Magee confessed to a keen dislike of poetry saying that he was brought up in a realistic world, one of nine children of a Methodist preacher who had not much money. At 13 he was still wearing clothes made by his mother from old ones of his father's and at that age he began to earn his own. Knowing the difficult side of life his imagination had no time to develop and that condition did not tend to create poetry, but he did develop the practical side. His brother, also a clergyman, young and realistic side of life impressed upon him. His time was spent normally and his imagination was developed to such an extent that he became engrossed with poetry and can even produce it.

Bishop Magee declared that men are called to their work, to be good farmers, lawyers, preachers, but their faculties are frequently put in distorted relationship to their work. In passing some farms, he knows "that farmer has missed his calling." Many in the church want the position of financial secretary but are unable to add 2 and 2, while those expert at figures refuse to take the job, though begged to do so. Methodists must "square" face the situation and follow God's leadership and will: we are not doing it as a church," he asserted.

Renew Covenant, Plea

The bishop urged church members to renew their covenant with God saying "you can't get away from a promise and keep a clean soul. . . . Going to church has value, it means something and no church can be vital with absentee members." Only one-third of the membership of the church is contributing to its support and but one-third of that number is giving to world service benevolences, he declared. "There can never be a triumphant church that way."

Concluding his challenge to the church he said that the greatest curse to human kind is "indifference." The challenges, allurements and temptations come and "we do not have faith enough to make our decisions quickly while if we kept God in our consciousness we wouldn't have so many indecisions in our lives. If the church can be aroused to renew its vows, the joys of heaven will ring once more over the sinner that repenteth, and the gospel will spread around the wide world."

Nearly eighty delegates from throughout the district attended the conference which was presided over by the Rev. I. E. Schlagenhauf, Appleton district superintendent. The keynote of the program was evangelism which has been emphasized by Methodism this year.

Dr. Gilbert Cox, Appleton, addressed the group on "The Forces Against Us." "Our Spiritual Resources" was the subject used by the Rev. William C. Kurtz, Manitowish, with the Rev. Herbert J. Lane, Shawano, addressed the conference on "Looking at the Past." The Rev. Carl E. Hagen, Merrill, led the devotionals and the Rev. H. O. Blackburn, Mosinee, conducted the song services.

SYNOPSIS: When flashy Prescott Fanning abducts Janet from Baltimore on his yacht, she gets word to Neill, a young federal agent who loves her. Dashing to Absalom's Harbor, he boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her nearby in a disused liner, then joins forces with Mark Boninger, keen local investigator, to keep tabs on developments. Neill takes food and clothes to Janet and loses faith in her story of innocence when she produces $500 of Fanning's money. She runs on deck to give herself up.

Chapter 21

ATTACK IN THE DARK

F EARING that Janet would cry out, Neill clapped a hand over her mouth and started dragging her along the deck, resisting every foot of the way. With great difficulty he got her through the door of the booby hatch, and closed the door behind them. He sat down on the iron stairs to recover his breath, holding her close.

Janet suddenly broke into tears and clung to him, and by that time he knew the crisis had passed. He had never loved her so well as at that moment. He wanted to laugh.

"Oh, Honey, what a fright you gave me!"

"How could you say such things to me?"

"By God, I'm sorry now!"

"If you don't believe in me, I don't care what happens!"

"I do! I do! I will never doubt you again!"

"How can I be sure that you mean it?"

"I love you better than my life!" he murmured. "We can't quarrel. We're in this thing together. What happens to one happens to the other. We're like two parts of the same body. If we separated it would finish us both!"

Gradually she quieted down. They returned through the ship hand in hand. Neill was sore and

Rotarians Told How to Put Their Houses in Order

Important to Make Will, Wettengel Says in Talk At Kaukauna

Kaukauna—“Put Your House in Order” was the topic of a talk by George Wettengel of Appleton before the Kaukauna Rotary club yesterday noon at Hotel Kaukauna. His address dealt with the making of wills and provisions for care of estates.

“A large part of any estate is eaten up in these times by administrative charges,” Wettengel said, “and these charges can be materially reduced if the right kind of arrangement is made. The ideal situation is to have cash in the bank for the initial fees, earmarked as a clean-up fund.”

The necessity for the making of a will was urged, it being pointed out that where no will was made each state has automatic laws for the descent of property.

These laws may not be at all that the deceased would have desired. A will should not be made hastily, but only after careful consideration.

Outlines Purposes

Six purposes of a will were set forth by Wettengel. The first was to determine the beneficiaries, the second, to set forth definite objectives, third, to make an inventory of the estate, fourth, to give instructions to successors, fifth, to construct a plan for the estate, and last, to name a successor.

There are four methods of paying life insurance after a death, he explained. It may be paid at once to the family in a lump sum, or to the estate in a lump sum. In the latter case, however, it will not be exempted from federal tax. Or, third, the insurance company may be instructed to pay the money to the family or estate over a period of time in varying installments, and, finally, it may be paid to the estate's trustee. This last method is the best, Wettengel stated as the federal tax is avoided.

St. Mary Eleven In Fifth Victory

Kaukauna Grade School Squad Swamps Little Chute Team, 26-0

Kaukauna—The St. Mary parochial school football team won its fifth successive victory of the season here yesterday afternoon by trouncing St. John's of Little Chute on the high school grounds, 26 to 0. The visitors put up a game battle but were no match for the heavier and more experienced local team.

The game was virtually clinched in the first quarter when Ranquette plunged over twice for touchdowns after sustained marches. Danner scored on plunges twice in the third quarter to put the game on ice. Little Chute's main threat came in the second period when they drove to the St. Mary's 15 yard line, only to lose the ball on downs.

Kaukauna made five first downs to two for Little Chute, completed the only pass they attempted, and suffered three penalties, two of five yards for offside and one of 15 yards for holding. Little Chute completed three of seven passes and escaped being penalized. Kaukauna's two extra points came as a result of Danner's successful drop kick and Ranquette's pass. St. Mary's made 242 yards from scrimmage compared to 58 for the Chutes. Danner's 53 yard return of the game's second kickoff was the outstanding run of the game.

North Woods Picture Will Be Shown Tonight

Kaukauna — A large crowd is expected at the showing tonight of the “Great Secret,” a natural color motion picture of the north woods. It will be presented by Sam Campbell, well known northern Wisconsin woodsman, who has spent most of his life in the woods of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Canada.

The picture is jointly sponsored by the high school athletic council and the Kaukauna Conservation club and will be shown at the high school auditorium. Proceeds will be used to feed pheasants, fish and ducks in Kaukauna wild life reserves this winter.

Music will be furnished by the high school band, under the direction of Clarence J. Kriesa.

All-School Dance Will Be Held at Gymnasium

Kaukauna—The second all-school dance of the year at Kaukauna high school will be held in the gymnasium Saturday. The affair will be sponsored by the high school chapter of the Future Farmers of America, and will be for the purpose of raising money to finance educational trips. Music will be furnished by the Mountaineers, an orchestra composed of Daryl Stocker, Florian Stocker and William De Groot.

The refreshment committee consists of Clifford Johnson, Harry De Groot and Elroy Peters; music, William De Groot; tickets, Richard Bohm and Harry Wuyts.

Little Rehearses Team for Menasha Tilt Friday Night

Kaukauna Coach Drills Re- serves in Blocking, Tackling

Kaukauna — For the second time this week the Kaukauna football squad's practice was halted yesterday only by darkness, as Coach Paul E. Little pushed the preparations for the next to the last conference tilt at Menasha Friday night. So far this season Menasha has yet to play the game they are capable of, and if they should pick Friday night to live up to pre-season expectations of a great team Kaukauna will undoubtedly suffer its second successive conference defeat.

Coach Little again concentrated on the second stringers and reserves last night, the regulars being gradually excused from the practice scrimmage. Attention was mainly focussed on tackling and blocking, as Little is determined that no more games will be lost through ignorance of the fundamentals.

Carl Giordana was apparently placed for good in Capt. Bill McCormick's sack at right halfback, with Eob Nissen running in Giordana blocking back assignment. Kobussen at fullback and Peterson at left halfback completed the backfield that will probably start against Menasha Friday. The line in front of them will have Alger at left end, Lambie at left tackle, Noie at left guard, Pendergast at center, Hilgenberg at right guard, Frank at right tackle and Floyd Hoymann at right end.

Four years after the incorporation of the W. C. O. F. on Jan. 1, 1894, a court of 25 members was organized by Miss Mary McHughes of Milwaukee, it was brought out in a review of the club's growth and history. Initiation of members and the installation of officers took place on March 1, 1898, at the Holy Cross school hall, with H. C. R. Elizabeth Rogers and Organizer Mary McHughes the installing officers.

The name of St. Ann was adopted by the court. Officers elected were Mrs. Elizabeth Claspill, chief ranger; Mrs. Catherine Dougherty, vice chief ranger; Mrs. Lena Reuter, recording secretary; Mary Goldin, financial secretary; Mrs. Rose Runte, treasurer; Mrs. Rose Wittman, Mrs. Anna McCarthy and Miss Josephine Steinbrecher, trustees; Mrs. Mary Hoberg, Mary E. Phillips, conductors; and Mrs. Helen Hilgenberg and Mrs. Annie Fechter, sentinels. Other charter members of the organization were Anna Michels, Mrs. Amelia Guilfoyle, Mrs. Margaret Graf, Mrs. Elizabeth Reuter, Mrs. Mary Bayorgson, Mrs. Barbara Kramer, Mrs. Jennie Fontaine, Mrs. Margaret Corcoran, Mrs. Adelaide Melchior, Miss Caroline Brill and Mrs. Jennie Callahan. Miss Anna Mangold was admitted as a social member.

Because of her duties as a nurse Mary Goldin resigned as financial secretary at the next meeting and Josephine Steinbrecher was elected to fill the post, with Anna Reuter succeeding her as trustee.

Before the end of the year the names of Marie Reuter, Margaret Lorrin, Katherine Helf, Mary Wudi, Mary Feller, Victoria Schwimm, Katherine Klein, Amelia Langlois and Rose Marie Grey were added, and before the turn of the century the membership included rances Langlois, Grace Deuster, Mary Montague, Gertrude Eimmerman, Leon Homer, Anna Reardon, Elizabeth Mankosky, Maggie J. Corcoran and Della Feller.

At this time the court was very active in raising money for the addition begin built on the church, collecting over $500 at its table at the 1900 church fair. C. R. Claspill wrote a poem requesting penny donations from members, which was sent to outside courts.

By 1902 a large number of members were from St. Mary's parish on the south side, and in consequence Sister Mary Montague helped organize a court there. Sacred Heart Court No. 556 was instituted on July 2, 1902. Any St. Ann members transferred to the new court, with Albina Schmitt becoming chief ranger.

Six Specialists to Address Meeting at Neenah Saturday

Neenah — Apparently there will be an enthusiastic and receptive group of people seeking information on child welfare at the Neenah Kiwanis club's conference Saturday afternoon at the Valley Inn, if the number of accepted invitations is a criterion.

A. C. Haselwood, president of the service club, said today that there will be at least 150 persons directly connected with child care at the conference, and the number would have reached well over 225 but many requests were refused because of the lack of facilities to take care of them.

Six well known child welfare workers who are considered specialists in the field will provide information on the care of neglected and dependent children. The afternoon program will open with a luncheon, following which speeches will be delivered. Each speech will be limited, but at the conclusion of each talk time will be allotted for questions.

The speakers in the order in which they will give their talks and the topic of their speeches are as follows:

Directed Action Secret of Success Kiwanis Club Told

Head of Theological Seminary Addresses Neenah Group

Neenah — Action without direction and discrimination means bankruptcy, Dr. John Timothy Stone, Chicago, told Kiwanians Wednesday noon at the Valley Inn as he emphasized that "success is centered in the man of action who not only acts but contacts all walks of life."

The president of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary told Kiwanians that success is centered around four requisites, action, contacts, tact and contrast. "Most all men appear busy," the doctor pointed out, "but they do not discriminate between activity and service with the unsuccessful man failing to use and adjust his actions. The lazy man who may appear as busy as the ambitious person does not have directed action, doing the things he wants to do instead of the things he ought to do," the educator said in pointing out the difference between lazy people and men of action.

Dr. Stone urged Kiwanians to learn how to use contacts which will enable them to discern the values of men. "The successful man may not be the most intelligent and have the most ability, but he does know how to use his contacts to select men who can do the work for him better than he can do it," the college president explained.

Contacts Important
"Contacts delegate responsibility, but they also reinforce that fine spirit of brotherhood prevalent in business today," the educator said. "The Kiwanis club, which offers this valuable fellowship and shows men the appreciation of their fellowmen," Dr. Stone said. "The Kiwanis club is an other similar organizations 'puts a level on friendship,' the doctor philosophized. Great men show their greatness by the way they treat little men, for anybody can be a snob, he said.

The college president said that tact, the third point in his success chart, is a common sense element in everyday life, with crystallized tact developing into courtesy. "Courtesy in a man is the difference between a Christian gentleman and an ordinary man," according to the doctor. Contract, or the results, cannot be estimated in terms of money but only in terms of happiness.

The college president concluded his speech by saying: "Although I am a minister, I am not here to preach to you. I know whether you need the church but that is for you to decide. But I do know and shall tell you this—the church needs you."

During the business meeting of A. C. Haselwood, president of the service club, informed the Kiwanians that enough money has been pledged for the purchase of the "iron lung" which the Kiwanis club is to donate to Theda Clark hospital.

He said that $1,200 in cash already has been received, but that the rest of the fund necessary to buy the artificial respirator will come in shortly. The "iron lung" will not be purchased, however, until the required amount has been received.

Menasha Gridders Suffer Blow With Loss of Captain

Eldon Grimm, Co-Leader, Unable to Play in Kaukauna Tilt

Menasha — Menasha high school grid prospects for the game with Kaukauna here Friday night received a severe blow with the loss of Eldon Grimm, co-captain of the team and tackle who played every game without relief. Grimm is ill and will be unable to get into the game this week.

A brisk practice session was held yesterday in which the squad looked fine and appeared to be at a keen edge for the invasion by the Kaws. Most of the drill was on offense with just a review of the defensive assignments. A bit of scrimmage was also handed out to the squad.

Henry Landskron will be used at left tackle by Coach N. A. Calder in place of Grimm. The work of Westberg at end has developed rapidly and the senior player has about clinched a starting post.

Ray Henk has recovered from injuries received in the West DePere game and which handicapped him against New London. He will be back in at a starting guard position. One other change seems likely in the Menasha backfield. Knoll has been drilling in the first string backfield, replacing Drucks.

Memories of two tie games with Kaukauna in the last two years will spur Menasha high players on. Menasha gridders will have an opportunity to climb to a .500 rating in the Northeastern conference standings while the Kaws will be battling for an outside chance to tie for top honors.

at the same time immensely tender. He did not believe her story. In the ears of the trained detective it had a fatally fictitious sound; but he loved her far too well to question it further. It doesn't matter, he told himself; she is my girl and I'm bound to stick to her anyhow.

When they entered the suite, the candle was still burning as they had left it. Janet, who had been considerably pulled about during the struggle on deck ran into the bedroom to comb her hair.

Neill lit a cigarette. As he waited for Janet to gradually come to him that the room had been visited during their absence. The cushions of the couch had been disarranged; one of the drawers in the desk was pulled out a little. Suddenly chilled with fear, he ran out on the veranda. The window where the ladder hung was open again.

He broke into a cold sweat. His position appeared truly terrible to him. It seemed impossible to leave Janet alone if her refuge had been discovered. And equally impossible to stay with her. They had only a day's food and almost no drinking water. Almost worse than the danger was the mystery that surrounded the unknown spy. If he was aware of everything they did, why didn't he show himself? Why didn't he denounce them? What was he after?

Meadow Lark's Call Janet called to Neill from the parlor and he went in, forcing himself to smile. "Much as I hate to do it, I must send you away," she said. "You had no sleep last night. . . . Unless you could sleep here?" she added wistfully.

"I suppose I must go," he said flatly. ". . . Listen Janet. When I leave you, you must take the gun." "What good would that do me?" "If you were attacked, you could use it, couldn't you? It is the right of every human creature."

"I suppose I could. . . . What has made you suddenly anxious?" "Nothing. But I mustn't neglect any precautions." He started pulling in the length of twine that hung overboard.

"What are you doing that for?" "There are too many people hanging around these parts," he muttered. "The ships are objects of curiosity. Somebody might come around in a boat and see the string hanging down."

"How will you let me know when you come?" "I will whistle. Do you know the call of the meadow lark?" She shook her head.

He taught it to her. "When you hear that tomorrow night let the string down with a small object tied to it so that it will fall true. Hold on to the string and I will twitch it four times, wait a second and twitch it four times more. Then you will know it's me and you can let down the ladder."

"Why all these precautions?" Neill grinned until his face hurt. "It's just because you mean so much to me. I worry every moment I am away from you. He looked at all the doors and into the corridor to make sure that the bolts were fastened. "You're pretty safe here. Certainly nobody can get in from the river. If anybody should try to smash these doors you can throw down the ladder and escape by swimming."

"Why imagine anything so terrible?" "We must be prepared. Promise me you'll do what I tell you."

"All right." He went down the ladder feeling as if he had left the last part of himself behind. He half expected to find his skiff gone. But it was there just as he had left it. Whoever had come and gone that way had had a skiff of his own. Neill reflected that the spy must have been actually hidden in the suite at the moment when he had come back and shut the windows.

Whoever it was, he was gone now. Neill rowed all around the ships and searched up and down the shore. No skiff. He finally tied his skiff in the place where it belonged, and started back across the field, the way he had come, looking over his shoulder at every other step and pausing often to listen. It was a dark night and he could see only a yard or two.

Coming to the state road, he lay down in the weeds behind the wire fence, peering through and listening. His intention was to wait until the motorcycle policeman had passed on his patrol. All Neill's attention was directed on the road and for a moment or two he neglected to look behind him. He had no warning of danger. Suddenly a powerful figure dropped on his back, knocking the wind out of him and pinning him down.

Captive Neill struggled with all his power. It was useless. He was borne down under an incredible weight of bone and muscle. The man planted a knee on the base of his skull crushing his face into the earth so that he could not cry out. He hit him repeatedly on the side of the head until Neill became groggy, and was unable to fight back when his arms were dragged behind him and tied together. Then his ankles.

The man turned him over and patted his eyes and his lips shut with strips of surgeon's tape that he had ready for the purpose. In the brief second that Neill could see him he was just a shapeless bulk of humanity looming between him and the sky. He flung himself down beside Neill, panting hoarsely after his efforts.

Neill heard the motorcycle coming down the road, and exerted himself to shout. Only feeble groans issued from his sealed lips. The policeman, deafened by the sound of his own exhaust, swept on, and the man lying beside Neill chuckled. After a minute or two the motorcycle roared past again. The sound died away up the road.

The man rose and, picking up the helpless Neill as if he had been a child, dropped him over the fence. Once more the breath was pretty well knocked out of him. The man scrambled after and, picking Neill up, carried him across the road and threw him over the fence on the other side. Neill wondered shakily how much of this the human frame could stand.

He was picked up again and shouldered like a sack of meal. The man set off across another ploughed field. The going was bad through soft earth and he stumbled and panted. Neill was not disposed to make his job any easier. As soon as he got sufficient breath he started twisting and rolling on his carrier's shoulder. Whereupon the man flung him down and kicked him in the ribs. Neill took the hint. No use exhausting himself in a vain struggle.

After a time Neill recognized by a new smell on the air that they were nearing water. Probably the head of the inlet. They followed it for awhile along the edge of the bank. Neill could hear the little waves below.

His captor finally slid down the bank in a cascade of loose earth, crossed a strip of crumpling shingle and tossed Neill from his shoulder to a sort of wooden shelf. Neill judged from the weathered feel that it was the deck of an old vessel. It was canted at an angle, but a rail kept him from rolling off.

He heard the man climbing aboard. He was picked up again and dropped through what appeared to be an open hatch into the hold. This was the hardest fall he had had and he lay partly stunned. There was water in the hold, and he wondered if he would drown, without greatly caring. But it did not cover him. It was bilgewater in the bottom of the old hulk. The smell was horrible.

The man dropped into the hold and for a few minutes was mysteriously busy beside Neill, breathing hoarsely. Neill heard the slap of a rope. As his full senses returned and with them a renewed desire to live, the suspense was agonizing. What was the brute preparing? Neill groaned and rolled in his bonds and was rewarded with another kick.

Neill sends his captor on a wild goose chase, tomorrow.

Building, Trades Plan Studied at Conference

J. J. Hathaway of Madison, vice president of the Wisconsin State Brotherhood of carpenters, conferred with officials of the Appleton Building and Trades council here yesterday.

Hathaway's visit here was in connection with the plan proposed at state convention at Manitowish which would bind building and trades councils throughout the state into one organization, with blanket provisions for wage and hour scales. A committee was appointed at the convention to study the proposal. The plan is approved by the Appleton unit, according to Charles Debenack, business agent.

Hog Values Drop After Brisk Rise
Chicago Market Closes 10
To 15 Cents Lower Than Wednesday's Prices

Chicago—(U)—The hog market turned sharply downward today after a brisk and stronger start.
Initial dealings were strong to 10 cents higher, but after the opening round, prices quickly dropped to mostly 10 and 15 cents under Wednesday's close. The early top was $10.40, but most later sales ranged downward from $10.25. The bulk of good butchers sold at $9.75 to $10.15.

Cattle trade was weak, with trade at a standstill. Wednesday's close was sharply lower, as much as $1 off in instances. Trade today found no choice animals on hand and demand very narrow for the kinds offered. The best steers here sold at $17.65 with $18.25 bid and rejected. Other classes ranged steady.

Sheep and lamb trade opened very slow with only a few sales reported and these generally 25 cents and more lower. Early sales of native lambs ranged down from $10.
Other classes were unsold.
